NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—(AP)—John J. Raskob, chairman of the democratic national committee, today sent a telegram to Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt in which he said in part: "Heartily congratulations on your clear statement regarding prohibition. You have struck a new note which I feel will place the democratic party solidly behind the program to restore temperance and temperate living in our country."

"Your suggestion is admirable. It recognizes the principle of state's rights or home rule through returning control of liquor to the states with provision that local option will maintain, thus giving every city, town and village in a wet state the right to prohibit liquor within its borders or by local referendum. It also provides that it shall be the duty of the federal government to protect states which continue to prohibit liquor."

"Back to States' Rights." "Amplifying this thought, it would be my suggestion that the federal government recognize the sanity of the sovereignty of each one of our states and every state retaining prohibition laws should have its navigable water boundaries protected by the federal government against liquor invasions and also every state should have the right to call on the federal government to help in the matter of giving similar protection to its other boundaries."

"This new thought should receive great applause from the southern members of our party, because it at once restores respect for states' rights and home rule, more able defenders of which principle never existed than in our southern states and statesmen, and it gives to our dry states not only all the federal protection they enjoy today, but of vastly more importance is the fact that it will enable effective enforcement of state prohibition laws because they will represent public opinion and will fit exactly each local condition."

DRYS ARE ALARMED OVER PRIMARY RESULTS.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Prohibition, after being scheduled into the backgrounds temporarily by the defeat of Alfred E. Smith for president two years ago, took the national spotlight today as a boiling political issue as an analysis of election returns and political developments in the states of Michigan, Ohio, Colorado, Washington and New York indicated distinct

Russell Gains 140 Unit Votes, Carswell 124, Rivers Third, Holder Fourth in State Race

Richard B. Russell, on the right, Thursday night had established himself in the lead in the gubernatorial contest, while George H. Carswell, on the left above, was close behind in second place. Both candidates for the democratic nomination for governor immediately started preparations for their short campaign in the run-over primary scheduled for Wednesday, October 1.

Napier's Unit Votes Cost One Cent Each

County unit votes received by Colonel George M. Napier, attorney general of Georgia who was renominated in Wednesday's primary over Dorsey Davis, cost him about a cent apiece, Colonel Napier revealed Thursday amidst a busy session at the capitol receiving the congratulations of numerous friends.

"I spent less than $5 in the whole campaign," said Colonel Napier, "and all of that went for postage stamps and envelopes." Late Thursday returns, still incomplete, showed that he received 370 county unit votes as compared with 48 Davis received.

Not only did Colonel Napier shatter political records with his economy campaign but he remained at his post of duty from the time he heard he was to have opposition until the polls opened to decide the contest.

Great Victory Scored by Senator Harris—Parker Appears Winner Over Harrison.

Georgia voters will decide, in a run-over primary October 1, whether Richard B. Russell, Jr., or George H. Carswell will be the next governor of the Empire State of the south.

Complete returns from Wednesday's statewide democratic primary compiled Thursday showed that Russell led the field of five candidates in the gubernatorial race, carrying 53 counties with a total unit vote of 140. Carswell carried 46 counties with a unit vote of 124.

E. D. Rivers, former state senator, was in third place in the race with 84 unit votes from 36 counties, while John N. Holder, former chairman of the state highway commission, was fourth with 66 unit votes from 26 counties. James A. Perry, chairman of the public service commission and fifth candidate in the race, did not carry a single county.

Harris Rules State. Final tabulation in the race for the United States senate revealed that the incumbent, Senator William J. Harris, had carried every county in the state except one. The only county carried by his opponent, former Governor John M. Slaton, was Evans, giving him two county unit votes to the senator's 412. Senator Harris will begin his third term in the United States senate in 1931, nomination in the democratic primary in Georgia being equivalent to election.

Popular Vote Count. While the popular vote for many counties was not reported because of the unit vote system, which makes the popular vote useless in so far as results of the primary are concerned, 110,002 votes had been tabulated in the governor's race on Thursday night. Of this number, Russell got 31,847; Carswell got 29,602; Holder had 24,223; Rivers, 21,216, and Perry, 3,714.

In the race for the United States senate, the popular vote reported Thursday night showed $8,258 for Harris and $4,320 for Slaton. This tabulation was admittedly far

COSTE, BELLONTE TO VISIT ATLANTA OCTOBER 7 AND 8

Mayor Ragsdale Mapping
Plans for Big Official Welcome to Air Conquerors of Atlantic.

Plans were initiated Thursday night to accord Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte, trans-Atlantic air heroes, Atlanta's most cordial and pretentious welcome who will visit the Gate City on their good will tour of America, October 7.

Mayor I. N. Ragsdale declared he would take the matter up at once and begin preparations for the reception and that he will confer with the mayors of other boroughs composing Atlanta, seeking their co-operation and influence in giving the French airmen the "most cordial reception tendered to them anywhere in the country."

Gregory C. Bowden, chairman of the aviation committee of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, and Tom M. Smith, chairman of the aviation committee of the borough of Atlanta, also will confer at once and will co-operate in perfecting details of entertainment and reception plans.

"The coming of these flyers to Atlanta is a distinct honor, and Atlanta will show her appreciation and also will give a fine demonstration of real southern hospitality," Mr. Bowden said.

"I will confer with Mayor Ragsdale Friday and will co-operate in any way possible, pledging the fullest sympathetic co-operation of the aviation committee of the Chamber of Commerce."

Every one of the other five mayors of the various boroughs composing Atlanta will be invited to participate in the formulation of plans for the reception of the airmen, it was said.

These included Scott Candler, of Decatur; C. R. Pyburn, of Avondale; W. A. Landers, of Hapeville; Candler field, Atlanta's airport; E. D. Barrett, of College Park, and J. A. Ragsdale, of East Point.

Announcement that the flyers will visit Atlanta was made Thursday by Charles Hayden, chairman of the committee sponsoring the flight.

The tour, which will take the flyers across the country, is scheduled to start September 15 and end October 10. It was arranged after considering hundreds of invitations, Mr. Hayden said.

He added that the committee had several limiting factors with which to contend: Limited time at the disposal of the flyers making it impossible to duplicate the tour made by Colonel Lindbergh in 1927; the fact that the season of good weather is drawing to a close; and the strain a prolonged tour would place upon the French airmen.

Major George Witten has been appointed tour manager and will travel along the route in a plane provided by the aeronautics division of the department of commerce. René Racover, business manager of the flyers, will accompany them as interpreter.

Mr. Hayden pointed out that in addition to the tour, the flyers will also be making a series of lectures and demonstrations.

EXPLODING STILL KILLS ONE, HURTS 2

Body of Unidentified Vic- tim Found Northwest of Ben Hill.

An unidentified man was killed and two others were reported burned seriously early Thursday night when a still exploded in a densely wooded section about three miles northwest of Ben Hill. The badly torn body of the dead man was found by County Police men Jack Carroll and E. P. Hornsby, shortly before midnight. It was brought to the undertaking parlors of the Harry G. Poole Company where identification efforts will be made this morning.

Carroll and Hornsby went to the place after they had received a tip on the explosion. The person who furnished the tip also reported that two men, one white and one a negro, had been hurt.

When they reached the scene the policemen found the body of the dead man, its right arm and right leg blown away.

Inquiry at Grady hospital by other county policemen early this morning revealed that a man giving his name as L. O. Breedlove was a patient being treated for severe burns, which he had reported receiving when he blew up at a Campbell county saw-mill at which he had been working. He was ordered held.

The police also learned that a negro who gave his name as Joe Smith also was receiving treatment for burns. He also is being held.

Jury Frees Gilbert
In E. A. Veal Slaying

W. C. Gilbert, carpenter, Thursday night acquitted by a jury in De Kalb superior court following trial for the alleged murder of E. A. Veal, contractor. Gilbert contended that the slaying was in self-defense.

Veal died at Grady hospital as the result of a fracture of the skull received when he was knocked down by Gilbert, it was charged. Witnesses told of seeing the fight between the two men. The conflict was said to have resulted from an argument over a debt of $1.65. Gilbert was defended by John Wesley Weekes and Murphy Candler.

PLANNED SUICIDE, CARPENTER SAYS

Girl Was Trying To Keep Him From Ending His Own Life, Slayer Tells Investigators.

A fatal blast from a 12-gauge shotgun was the response of a father to his daughter's plea for her mother during a family quarrel late Thursday afternoon.

As the result, Emma Jane Cooke, 18, is dead, while her father, William J. Cooke, 40, a carpenter, is held by police charged with murder.

The tragedy occurred shortly after 4 o'clock on the front porch of the Cooke home, 342 Fowler street, N. W. It was witnessed by the young woman's mother, a neighborhood chum and two small children who played in the front yard.

Horror-stricken, they saw the girl walk toward her father, who stood in the doorway of the porch, a single-barrel shotgun in his grasp.

"Oh, don't hit mother!" they heard the girl plead as she walked toward her parents, the mother standing behind the man.

Miss Cooke's chum screamed as she saw Cooke raise the weapon point-blank at his daughter's approach. A split-second later there was a deafening roar. The full charge, at close range, struck Emma Jane directly under the right armpit. So close was the neighborhood friend, she said, that she felt the heat of the fatal discharge, but she escaped injury.

Horror-stricken, Mrs. Cooke ran to where her daughter had fallen. She gathered the dying girl up in her arms while neighbors summoned an ambulance. En route to the hospital, Emma Jane died, expiring in the arms of the mother in whose defense she had given her life.

"She died in my arms," Mrs. Cooke sobbed later. "Those lovely blue eyes just closed—while she was looking up at me so helplessly."

The tragedy, according to police, was the outgrowth of numerous altercations between the parents, having its inception in a gnawing jealousy on the part of Cooke. In a statement shortly after his arrest he admitted shooting his daughter, contending that she had threatened to kill him. He also said that for the last few years life "had been miserable" because of his suspicions of his wife.

It was a frenzy of jealousy, according to police, that prompted the man to come home sooner than usual Thursday afternoon. He found Emma Jane and her neighborhood friend, Mrs. R. H. Suddeth, of 337 Fowler

Florida High Court Orders Man Released

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Sept. 11.—(AP)—The supreme court today ruled that Nelson Dobbs, held by Sheriff M. P. Lehman, of Dade county, should be discharged from custody and a decree of the circuit court of Dade county should be reversed since the statute of limitations would be violated if Dobbs was detained further. Dobbs was charged with breaking and entering in February of 1928 and a warrant was not served until June of 1930. On July 28, 1930, the county solicitor filed an information charging Dobbs with grand larceny. The defendant filed an application for a writ of habeas corpus to obtain his release, but the court ordered him handed over to the sheriff. The supreme court today granted Dobbs' appeal that he was being held in violation to the statute of limitations.

In its decision the high court said Dobbs should have been remanded to the sheriff if the original warrant had been placed in the hands of the proper officer for service prior to the expiration of the two-year limit set by statute and in such case the decree of the lower court would have been affirmed. But this was not the case. On the grounds that the original warrant was not served within the two-year period and on the fact that the original warrant was insufficient to bear out the changed charge the court reversed the court below and ordered Dobbs released.

FORD MOTOR SUED FOR $5,000,000

TAMPA, Fla., Sept. 11.—(AP)—Suit for $5,000,000 against the Ford Motor Company of Delaware was filed here today in federal court by attorneys for Fred William Furen, of St. Petersburg, who contends the Ford company has infringed on a patent he obtained for an outside intake pipe for gasoline tanks on automobiles. A similar suit was filed some time ago, asking $2,000,000 but was thrown out when Ford company attorneys pointed out the company sued at that time, the Ford Company of Michigan, did not make automobiles.

The amount asked now is greater because, attorneys for the St. Petersburg man said, the Ford company has made a vastly greater number of cars since the original suit was filed. A royalty of $1.50 is placed by the complainant on each intake pipe placed on the new Ford automobile.

street, the eyewitness, sitting on the front porch. Mrs. Cooke had gone out about an hour previously.

"Where is your mother?" the father demanded.

"She's gone out—to Jones Park. I think," Mrs. Suddeth said the daughter answered him.

After questioning his daughter further, Mrs. Suddeth said, Cooke finally went to the kitchen, and she and Emma Jane continued their conversation. Shortly before 4 o'clock, she added, Mrs. Cooke came home, and as she was about to enter the house she was called to an automobile by a woman acquaintance. Mrs. Suddeth said she did not know the name of the woman. Mrs. Cooke, she said, got into the car and sat chatting with the acquaintance, and it was while she was thus occupied that Cooke returned.

He walked up and down the sidewalk near the car, a knife in his hand, Mrs. Suddeth said. After passing and re-passing the car two or three times, she related, Cooke suddenly ordered his wife to get out of the machine. It was only after he had put the knife into his pocket, she said, that Mrs. Cooke consented to come out of the car.

Hear Cooke's Quelling.

On the porch, the eyewitness continued, Cooke demanded that his wife accompany him into the house. Mrs. Cooke at first was hesitant, but finally followed him into the front room, which is the living room, and later into an adjoining bedroom. From where they sat on the porch, Mrs. Suddeth said, she and Emma Jane could hear a violent quarrel raging. The altercation grew more violent, according to Mrs. Suddeth, and after a while she was startled to see Cooke walk into a doorway leading onto the porch with a shotgun in his hands.

"I whispered to Emma, 'He's going to shoot you,'" she related, "and I got up and stood near the steps."

At about that time, she said, Mrs. Cooke came up behind her husband and as he whirled around toward his wife, Emma Jane, who had been standing close by her side, started to ward her father.

"Oh, don't hit mother!" the daughter begged, according to Mrs. Suddeth, whose version of the scene later was corroborated by the mother's story to police.

At his daughter's intervention, the father, almost beside himself with rage, turned squarely toward his daughter. As Emma Jane advanced he raised the weapon, sighted it hastily and fired.

Mrs. Suddeth said she was both terrified and horror-stricken. She ran

Lankford and Judge Wood Win in Congressional Races

CONGRESSMAN W. C. LANKFORD.

JUDGE JOHN S. WOOD.

Contests for three places in Georgia's congressional delegation were decided in Wednesday's democratic primary. The most surprising upset occurred in the ninth district where Congressman Thomas M. Bell, dean of the delegation, who has served in congress for the past 25 years, was defeated by Judge John S. Wood, of Canton.

In the eleventh and fifth districts the incumbents won over their opponents, Congressman W. C. Lankford being renominated in the eleventh and Congressman Robert C. W. Ramspeck defeating Allen M. Pierce by a wide margin in the fifth. The other nine members of the delegation were renominated without opposition.

Judge Wood, the new congressman, is a native of Cherokee county and a graduate of Mercer University. He was elected to the legislature soon after his admittance to the bar, but resigned in 1917 for the World War, joining the army aviation corps.

He was elected solicitor general of the Blue Ridge circuit in 1920, and re-elected in 1924. In 1926 he was appointed by Governor Clifford Walker to fill the unexpired term of the late Judge D. W. Blair, of Marietta, as judge of the Blue Ridge circuit. In 1928 he was again elected judge of the circuit without opposition.

into the house. She declined at first and I went on in the house to the bedroom. In a few minutes she came in and I asked her where she had been that afternoon.

"She replied that she had been walking around Jones park, and told me that if I didn't believe it she didn't care. I went to a closet in the bedroom and got my gun. I told her I was going to kill myself."

"Emma Jane and another girl were sitting on the front porch. As I started out of the house my wife grabbed me and I pushed her back. I got to the steps and Emma Jane got up and started toward me. She said: 'Don't you hit my mother—I'll kill you.'"

"I then raised the gun and fired." Shortly after he had made the statement Cooke, placed in a cell at headquarters, broke down and sobbed audibly. He walked up and down the cell in anguish, sobbing and moaning. Police said he apparently had not been drinking.

It was learned from the grief-stricken mother that the gun with which her father had taken her life belonged to Emma Jane's sweetheart, Paul S. Norman, 915 Austin avenue, until about two weeks ago.

"I gave Paul five dollars for it," Mrs. Cooke said. "It was money we needed badly for food, but I bought it for my husband because he had been telling me he wanted a gun to go hunting with."

Shattered in nerve and heartbroken, the mother told police that Cooke several times had told him he was going to kill his wife and daughter.

"At breakfast this morning," she recalled, as if to herself, "he said something about killing her. He didn't like Emma Jane because she always took my part when he tried to beat me."

She said that during the more than 19 years they have been married her husband has deserted her 11 times.

"When I talked with him in the bedroom just before he killed Emma Jane," she told police, "he struck me and knocked me aside. He started for the porch and I followed to get the gun away from him."

Norman, the slain girl's sweetheart, also told police that Cooke several times had told him he was going to kill his wife and daughter.

The victim of the tragedy was popular in her neighborhood. A few minutes after the slaying the modest home was thronged with neighbors who had known her and who spoke between sobs of grief about how hard she had worked to help her mother make a home. Until a few weeks ago, they said, she had been employed in a downtown dress shop.

At home she assisted her mother with her small sister and brother, Marian, 8, and James, 11. She helped other women with their small children, keeping them evenings while their parents went to the movies. One woman told of how Emma Jane had kept night-long vigil beside her feverish baby as it lay ill for several days and nights a few weeks ago.

"She was a good girl—always ready to lend a helping hand," the neighbor said.

Funeral services will be deferred pending a coroner's inquest, which will be held some time today. Arrangements are in charge of Ed Bond & Condon.

Various civic improvements, including the projected fair street development which entails the widening and repaving of the present thoroughfare, were brought up for discussion at the meeting of the Twelfth Ward Improvement Club held Thursday night at the Kirkwood Masonic hall, according to Roy A. The meeting was addressed by Clarke Donaldson, city chief of construction; W. M. Hairston, commander of the Lee-Roosevelt camp, candidate for alderman from the ninth ward; Professor O. P. Walton and L. R. Cooley, president and vice president, respectively, of the Eleventh Ward Improvement Club.

Texan Under Guard To Halt Kidnaping

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, Sept. 11.—(AP)—On guard against a reported plot by three Chicago gangsters to kidnap C. P. Barreda, Brownsville millionaire, and Juan Cross, Matamoros, Mexico, millionaire, 50 armed officers were placed at strategic points in the lower Rio Grande valley today.

The authorities learned of the plot through a Brownsville woman who said she had been approached by the gangsters to aid in the kidnaping. The gangsters were said to be accompanied by two Detroit women.

Barreda left here today for Mercedes, in response to a telephone call from a woman believed to be an accomplice of the gangsters. He was guarded by officers, who expected to attempt to arrest the woman and one of the men.

Moses Going West To Do Some Listening

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Before leaving for the west to do what he described as "a lot of high-powered listening," Senator Moses, of New Hampshire, chairman of the republican senate campaign committee, today called upon President Hoover to discuss the political situation.

Chairman Moses said he expected to visit Illinois, Minnesota, Colorado, South Dakota, Montana, Wyoming and perhaps some other western states.

He declined to say what part he would take in the campaign in that section other than that he intended to listen.

You can't fool the young men these days

Young men are excellent judges of fabric values. They know by the feel what clothes are durable. They know by the looks what patterns are smart. That is, no doubt, the reason why Tiffany Worsteds suits are so popular. The young men recognize them immediately as outstanding worsted suits, the best values that can be found. And, moreover, they appreciate the fact that these suits were fashioned by Lord Rochester and tailored by Michaels-Stern.

CENSUS PETITION READY FOR COURT

Titus To Institute City's Legal Battle for Greater Atlanta Population.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Attorney Titus, of the Washington law firm headed by C. Bascom Sloop, of Virginia, former representative in congress and former secretary to President Coolidge, will be filed in the name of a number of Atlanta corporations and individuals, including The Constitution Publishing Company, the Atlanta Journal Corporation, and the Georgian Publishing Company.

Others signing the petition include the Ansley Hotel Company, the Hotel Winwood Company, the Henry Grady Hotel Company, the Piedmont Hotel Company, the Robert Fulton Hotel Company, the Haverly Furniture Company, and Ivan Allen, all in behalf of the city of Atlanta.

In asking for the writ, Attorney Titus outlined the history of the case, and pointed out how Director Stewart had refused to recognize the act of the Georgia legislature in approving the Greater Atlanta charter, insisting on the publication of population figures for the borough of Atlanta in the permanent record, which would give the city a population of only 270,367, or the number of persons residing in its old outgrown boundaries.

Granting of the writ is expected to be vigorously opposed by at least two other southern cities, Louisville and Houston, which are responsible for all the rumpus that has been raised over Atlanta's census returns from the 1920 census.

The petition, prepared by Louis Titus, of the Washington law firm headed by C. Bascom Sloop, of Virginia, former representative in congress and former secretary to President Coolidge, will be filed in the name of a number of Atlanta corporations and individuals, including The Constitution Publishing Company, ed a delegation from Atlanta that the city's new charter would be recognized without question, but later reversed himself after pressure was brought to bear by the disgruntled cities.

In his brief, Mr. Titus called attention to the most recent action of Director Stewart in publishing Atlanta's population as 270,367, with a footnote at the bottom of the list of 34 cities in which Atlanta was included, showing the other boroughs within its corporate limits.

Basis of Petition.
"Unless this writ of mandamus is issued," the petition read, "the said respondent (Director Stewart) threatens to and will, in all future publications, bulletins and reports, publish the population of Atlanta in an exactly similar manner—publication of the population of Atlanta in said manner will be misleading and inaccurate, and will mislead the people of the United States and other persons reading such reports, and the said city of Atlanta will be held out to the public of the United States and other persons as having a population of only 270,367, instead of its real population, 360,692."

Very few persons reading said bulletins and reports," the petition added, "will take the trouble to read said footnote, nor will they understand its significance, and will receive the impression that the population of Atlanta is only 270,367." The brief then went on to point out that the federal census bureau does not pursue the same course in the publication of the population of returns in the same manner, but gives the total, as in the case of New York, for example, and lists the boroughs coming under the jurisdiction of the city.

Escape Frustrated.

JACKSON, Mich., Sept. 11.—(AP)—Two convicts who attempted to escape from the old Michigan state prison here early this morning were recaptured by guards after a chase through darkened cell blocks. A general alarm was sounded and state and county officers hurriedly assembled at the prison to prevent a general jail break.

Officials Check

Hurricane Toll

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(AP)—A government survey in Santo Domingo estimated the existence of 1,000 gangrene cases, 8,000 injuries and 2,700 dead. Property loss as a result of the recent hurricane totaled between $20,000,000 and $25,000,000.

The navy received the information today from Colonel R. M. Cutts, marine brigade commander at Port-au-Prince, Haiti. On request of President Rafael Trujillo, he asked that 50 marines be sent to Santo Domingo "to handle food supply and for moral effect."

"Red Cross reports no food outside necessary arriving from surrounding country," the message said. Medical supplies en route were reported satisfactory for immediate needs. British, Dutch, Cuban and American ships are in the harbor for relief work. A total of 1,250 patients were being attended in five hospitals.

"Work from now on appears to be clearing debris, rebuilding and sanitation," the report said. "Part of city lighting and water systems functioning; by temporary scrap wood aqueduct across ravine which will go out in heavy rain."

ARGENTINA EXILES

DEPOSED PRESIDENT

MONTVIDEO, Uruguay, Sept. 11.—(AP)—All arrangements were completed tonight to receive Hipolito Irigoyen, deposed president of Argentina, who is en route here from La Plata, capital of the province of Buenos Aires.

President Campisteguy delegated his secretary to greet the former president, Baltasar Drum, president of the national council of administration, highest governmental authority in Uruguay, also delegated his aide to receive Irigoyen.

Irigoyen was expected around 11 P. M.

EXILE CLOSES

AMAZING CAREER.

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Just five days after he peaked his brief resignation ending an amazing career of political power, Hipolito Irigoyen, the aged former president of the Argentine republic, was headed into exile tonight aboard the cruiser Belgano.

The popular assumption was that he is bound for the near-by city of Montevideo, Uruguay, but the government made no official statement as to the destination.

The embarkation was conducted in secrecy. Late this morning, half of the seventh regiment went to the central docks—half a mile from the city of La Plata—and deployed in the surrounding area to prevent the entrance of any one, even newspapermen.

Chose To Leave Country.

At 11 o'clock this morning Irigoyen, accompanied by a daughter and his private physician, Dr. Moshe, was placed in a motor car and rushed to the docks. He went aboard the cruiser at 11:35 and 15 minutes later the ship pulled anchor.

His departure is said to have been his own choice.

Irigoyen's downfall began last Friday when, under pressure of his ministers, he "resigned" under a constitutional provision and turned the government over to the vice president, Enrique V. Martinez.

This aroused a military-naval coalition which Saturday night marched into Buenos Aires and took over the government house. Martinez and the cabinet resigned while Irigoyen fled to La Plata. There he was arrested, and Sunday morning, just a few minutes after midnight Saturday, he wrote a brief resignation.

Never Under Arrest.

He then was informed that he was not under arrest but in view of his illness was given a bed in the infirmary barracks. There he remained until today, his illness described variously as pneumonia, gripe or a combination of old age plus the depression caused by his fall from power.

With the former president, out of the country and his leading supporters either refugees or under arrest, the country apparently is calm. The people have returned to work and the government is turning toward financial and diplomatic problems.

Several more persons were arrested today, including the former deputy, Ramon Brizuela. All of those picked up since the new government came in are being held in solitary confinement until their recent activities are investigated.

The newspaper La Nacion publishes the facsimile of a document alleged to have been found in the offices of the Irigoyen war minister.

Stored Ammunition.

It purports to show that, following a verbal order from Irigoyen, the minister stored guns and ammunition in buildings near the then president's home for use in case of emergency.

The paper said that the total armament included four machine guns and 50 rifles, with 60 rounds of machine gun ammunition and 5,000 rifle cartridges.

La Nacion added that the caching began August 23 and ended September 1, much of the ammunition being placed in Irigoyen's residential building.

The departure of Irigoyen must have been seen by his former foreign minister, Horacio Oyhanarte, who was aboard the steamer Highland Prince moored at the same dock.

The Highland Prince loaded a cargo of meat today and was scheduled to sail for London at midnight.

Andree's Body To Rest Beside That of Mother

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 11.—(AP)—The question of where the bones of Salomon Auguste Andree are to be buried has been answered by his friend and classmate at the Institute of Technology in Stockholm, Arthur Lettler.

Mr. Lettler recalled that at the grave of his mother in Grenna, where Andree was born, the explorer once said: "No matter where I may be found after death, I wish to be buried beside my mother."

Mrs. Andree died in 1897, two weeks before the Andree expedition started for Spitsbergen the last time. She had been a widow since 1871. Her son was much devoted to her and always kept her informed of his plans. Being unmarried, his personal affections were centered in his mother.

When announcing her death he said to one of his friends, "Now my purely personal interest in the expedition is all gone. Of course, I am still interested in the realization of my idea; I have the same responsibility for my companions but of personal joy in an eventual success there is not a trace. The only thread that bound me to a desire for life has been cut off."

To the question of why he never married, Andree replied:

"I don't want to run the risk of having a wife to ask me with tears to desert from my flights, because at that moment my affection for her, no matter how strong, would be so dead that nothing could call it to life again."

Farm Board Will Ask Another Large Sum

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(AP)—C. C. Teague, member of the federal farm board, said today he had no doubt another substantial appropriation for the board would be asked of the next congress.

Appropriations from the $500,000,000 revolving fund already amount to $250,000,000.

The use of farm board money to help relieve the drought situation, Teague said, probably would be an important factor in creating the need for the additional appropriation.

He noted the corn crop was now estimated at more than 600,000,000 bushels under last year's yield and 700,000,000 under the average yearly yield.

The shortage in the feed grain, he said, was almost as large as the entire anticipated wheat yield of $76,000,000 bushels, thereby offering an opportunity to eliminate the wheat surplus by feeding it to livestock.

U. S. MOVES TO REOPEN

WATERWAY DISCUSSION

Note Sent to Canada in Regard to St. Lawrence Project.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(AP)—A move toward resumption of negotiations over the gigantic St. Lawrence waterways project has been initiated in an exchange of notes between the United States and Canada looking to a settlement of differences and the writing of a waterways treaty.

The text of neither note was made public. The United States suggestion, however, was said authoritatively to have been brief, merely reiterating the willingness of this country to proceed with negotiations at any time. It was taken to Canada by Hanford MacNider, the new American minister.

Advices from Ottawa said the Canadian reply contained assurance by Premier Bennett that he would take up the negotiations soon after his return from the imperial conference in London in October. The Canadian note had not been received at the state department late today.

The exchange of notes was the first known move through formal diplomatic channels since 1923. A series of communications in that year, however, outlined two major economic problems upon which opinion was divided: First, the proper division of costs between the two countries, and second, the development and allocation of water power created by the project.

Experts on the St. Lawrence plan said today these same problems probably would bulk large in the prospective negotiations, but that other waterway stumbling blocks experienced in Canada at that time—because of which Premier MacKenzie King indicated a desire for delay—had now been removed.

If the Canadian note expresses willingness to proceed, it was understood at the state department commissioners will be appointed by both countries to settle existing differences and draft a tentative treaty.

Although no formal communications between the two countries concerning the St. Lawrence project have been made public by the department since today William Phillips, former minister to Canada, discussed the project often with Canadian officials.

Chicago Declares

New War on Crime

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—(AP)—An offensive was under way tonight against the racketeer, beer baron and hoodlum on several fronts.

An inkling of income tax prosecutions by the federal government was heard in the summons of "Boss" John J. McLaughlin to the internal revenue bureau to explain alleged discrepancies in his reports for 1927 to 1929.

Government agents have scrutinized the records found in the strong box of Jack Zuta, slain gangster, and of Joe Aiello, head of the North Side alcohol syndicate.

Municipal Judge John H. Lyle joined the offensive by tossing Tony Kissane and John Barry back into cells under $30,000 bonds for trial on vagrancy charges.

State's Attorney John A. Swanson announced his newest weapon would be indictment of vagrants in the felony courts, and he would test his guns tomorrow. "Izzie" Alderman, once questioned in the Lingle murder case, and his pal, Joe Condi, are held in the county jail under $30,000 bond fixed by Judge Lyle on vagrancy charges, and Swanson said he would attempt to remove the case to criminal court for trial.

Business Demands Young People in Its Highest Positions

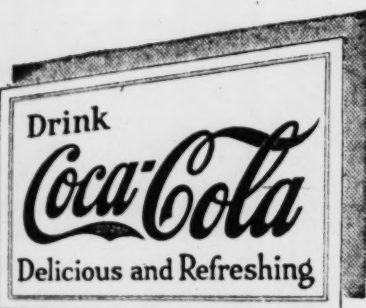

Business wants young assistants, young executives, young officials, and it is willing to pay the price. Young people of today are earning bigger incomes than their predecessors even dreamed of. Big business is not slow to recognize efficiency and ability. Places of responsibility are no longer given to favorites who have a "pull," but to those who can produce dividends.

But young people must be better trained than ever before. That is why The Draughon School of Commerce has keyed its courses to meet the new order.

High school graduation is a requirement for entering. This school is accredited by the Georgia State Board of Education, based on Junior College Standards in Commerce, Bookkeeping, Shorthand, Secretarial, and Walton Higher Accounting courses emphasized. G. W. WEST IS KILLED AS TRAIN HITS TRUCK

Failure To Hear Son-in-Law's Warning Costs Man
His Life.

Failure to hear the cry of warning from his son-in-law whose home he had just left cost the life of G. W. West, 50, of 106 West Washington street, East Point, Thursday afternoon, when a freight train bound for Atlanta struck the truck he was driving at West's Crossing in College Park. West was instantly killed, while G. G. Brown, his daughter's husband, looked on.

Mr. West, who operates a transfer firm at East Point, had been visiting his daughter and son-in-law at their home near the crossing in College Park. He had just said good-by to them and had started on the return trip to East Point, with Brown standing on the porch watching him. Brown saw the Atlanta-bound train and perceived that his father-in-law was not aware of the imminent peril. He shouted, but the noise of the locomotive apparently drowned out the warning. The train crashed into the truck, overturning and demolishing it. The victim died instantly.

Funeral services will be announced later by A. C. Hemperley, it was said. Mr. West is survived by his widow, three daughters, Mrs. G. G. Brown and Mrs. S. O. Higgins, of College Park, and Miss Elise West, of East Point, and two sons, Thomas West, of Fairburn, and V. S. West, of Atlanta.

Columbia Seminary Is Opened Thursday

Columbia Theological seminary formally opened its 103rd school year with simple exercises Thursday on the institution's campus in Decatur.

Marking the largest incoming class in two years and making a total enrollment of 50 students, 20 new men were matriculated at the opening session.

Dr. J. B. Green, of the faculty, delivered the principal address of the occasion and Dr. William C. Robinson extended the seminary's welcome to new and old students in the absence of acting President Melton Clark. Another feature of the exercises was the presentation of Dr. S. A. Cartledge as a new member of the faculty. He will serve as professor of New Testament literature and exegesis.

Burial in Oakland For John F. Kellam

Services will be held at 11 o'clock this morning for John F. Kellam, 69, chief clerk of the city construction department and for 42 years connected with this phase of municipal work, the Rev. L. R. Christie officiating at the residence, 983 St. Charles avenue, and interment following in Oakland cemetery.

Mr. Kellam died suddenly late Wednesday night after an illness of only a few hours. He had been in failing health nearly three years, and his death came as a great shock to a host of friends in this vicinity. He was a native of Hawkinsville but had lived in Atlanta virtually his entire life. He formerly was a member of the First Baptist church, serving as superintendent of the Sunday school, but recently had transferred his membership to the Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist church.

He is survived by his widow, three sons, A. R. John F. Jr., and Robert J. Kellam, of Atlanta; two daughters, Mrs. E. W. Sartain, Jacksonville, and Mrs. Howison Mahone, Atlanta; a brother, Eldredge P. Kellam, Atlanta, and two sisters, Mrs. Edward White, Jr., and Mrs. R. H. Comer, Jr., of Atlanta.

attraction appearing on the screen this week at the Capitol theater, will be offered today.

For the past two weeks complimentary tickets to the theater have been given to subscribers of The Constitution who purchased one of the $10,000 travel and pedestrian accident insurance policies offered by the paper to its subscribers at the cost of $1 a year.

With each policy sold, two matinee tickets will be given or one ticket good for admission at night. In addition to this the first person buying a policy this morning will be given a theater party, allowing six admissions.

The picture, "Little Accident," has been hailed as one of the big laugh hits of the season. The film was taken from the sensational stage success, "The Little Accident," written by Thomas Mitchell and Floyd Dell.

Leading roles in the production are played by Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Anita Page, and they are supported by a strong cast of featured players including Slim Summerville, of "All Quiet on the Western Front," Zasu Pitts and Sally Blane.

The policies available to subscribers of The Constitution are issued by the North American Accident Insurance Company of Chicago. The company has already paid claims of more than $100,000 to Constitution policy holders.

Costing only $1 a year, the policy provides for payment of sums ranging downward from $10,000 in case of death resulting from certain accidents, large cash payments for permanent injuries and from $10 to $20 weekly indemnity for disability resulting from specified accidents.

Further information pertaining to the policies may be obtained from the city circulation department of The Constitution.

North Avenue School Addressed by Oglesby

The desire to sacrifice thoroughness in favor of speed in getting an education was condemned by Dr. Stuart Oglesby, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, in his address Thursday at the formal opening of the twenty-first year of the North Avenue Presbyterian school.

"The most worthwhile things in life are made little by little," said Dr. Oglesby. "The most useful things and the most lasting things are made little by little. Education, lasting and worthwhile education, is acquired little by little."

The school began the new term under the most auspicious circumstances, with a large enrollment in all departments. Miss Thyra S. Aske, principal, announced the institution now takes care of 13 years of school life, from kindergarten through the high school.

Three new members of the faculty met the student body for the first time yesterday morning. They were Mrs. Sidney Kennedy, head of the French department; Miss Sarah Tate, assistant in the English department, and Mrs. C. E. Vaughn, head of the kindergarten.

Dr. Marion McH. Hull, chairman of the board of trustees, presided over the exercises.

Shot Misses Grocer Victim of Holdup Men

Delay in obeying the commands of a pair of negro holdup men Thursday morning nearly resulted disastrously for L. Cohen, who operates a grocery at 435 Edgewood avenue. A shot fired by one of the negroes, who apparently was angered or excited over the slowness with which the grocer complied with the order to "stick 'em up," crashed into a glass case close by the grocer, he told investigating officers.

The second negro rifled the cash till of about $25. Both escaped.

Jurors Continue Probe of Hospital

Investigation of Grady hospital affairs occupied the attention of the Fulton county grand jury during a lengthy special session Thursday. The grand jury will meet again this morning to handle routine matters.

Many witnesses were called Thursday and questioned by the grand jury in connection with the hospital probe. It is expected that another special session, with additional witnesses to be summoned, will be held next week.

Aid for Schools Urged by Duggan

Appreciation of the services rendered by his friends throughout the state was expressed in a statement issued Thursday by State School Commissioner M. L. Duggan, who also urged support of "the best plan that will bring about the early and full discharge of the state's unpaid obligations to our public common schools, higher educational institutions, Confederate veterans, sanitariums, etc."

His statement in part is as follows:

"I feel greatly indebted to 159 of the 161 county school superintendents and nearly all city superintendents and to the public school teachers and officials for their hearty interest and active aid extended in my campaign."

"What I appreciate far more than a re-election to office is the indorsement of my constructive policies for improvements in our public school system, and especially such emphatic indorsement of the earnest fight I am making for the payment of the $8,250,000 unpaid balances due our public schools for 1928 and 1929 and future provisions for as prompt payments to public school teachers as to any others who serve the state."

"Encouraged by such indorsement as was given by the voters in the recent democratic primary I pledge a continuation of my fight for the common schools of Georgia with an unwavering faith in its ultimate and early successful culmination."

Sacred Harp Body To Open 3-Day Meet

Delegates from a large number of the southern states are expected to arrive in Atlanta today and tomorrow for the annual convention of the United Sacred Harp Singing Association, which will hold daily sessions at the city auditorium Friday, Saturday and Sunday, it was announced Thursday by local leaders in the organization.

All sessions, it was said, will be open to the public and all persons interested in music are invited to attend. There will be night singing sessions Friday and Saturday and the convention will continue until 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

The association was organized 26 years ago, and at that time it was decided that Atlanta should be permanent convention headquarters. Membership in the organization includes citizens in Georgia, Alabama, Texas and a number of other states in the south. The object of the association is to perpetuate "the grand old sacred songs that are immortalized in the souls of the generations as they come and go," it was announced.

Three Little Words That Mean a Lot!

The three words most important to you--(next to that over-worked trio, "I love you") are "Bought with Macy's".

We want you to understand those triplets thoroughly. They're very deep and they certainly have a huge meaning!

First of All

They mean that the merchandise advertised has been purchased with Macy's, New York, the world's largest department store purchasing power. Because of that huge power, the price is lower than that at which other Atlanta stores can consistently sell in equal quality.

Then Another Thing

And a very interesting one. Everything that Macy's buys must pass tests that are more rigid than West Point entrance exams. Not that a pair of hose is given an intelligence test. But merchandise passes through Macy's enormous testing laboratories--"pure wool" tests--tests for colorfastness, for shrinking, for "pure dye"--everything gets tested and tested so that all merchandise which is finally accepted is A-1, top-notch--quite! And there are tests for style, too--given by Macy's staff of trained stylists.

"Bought-with-Macy's" simply says briefly--I have been tested thoroughly. I have met the most rigid requirements in quality and good taste. My price is lower than for equal quality elsewhere in Atlanta!

MOST BRUTAL THUGS KILL HELPLESS MAN

Storekeeper Shot While Lying Face Down on Floor.

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—(P)—A murder as heartless and unprovoked as police can recall over a long period was committed late last night in the drugstore of Willis Fiddelde, the 40-year-old proprietor.

Fiddelde was shot dead as he lay face down on the floor. "You've only got $45, and that ain't enough," was what the killer said, jabbing the muzzle of his pistol into the drugstore's back, between the shoulders, and pulling the trigger.

Two customers, held at bay in another room by an accomplice of the gunman, heard him say: "I croaked him all right. Let's get out of here." The robbers had compelled Fiddelde to go to a rear room and lie face down. They complained at only finding $45, but Fiddelde explained it had been a poor day and that was all he had.

Methodists Ready For 2-Day Retreat

The board of lay activities of the M. E. church, North Atlanta district, will hold a two-day retreat at Emory Junior college, Oxford, Ga., September 13 and 14, it was announced Thursday by C. T. Grizzard, lay leader. An address by Harvey W. Cox, president of Emory University and lay leader of the North Georgia Conference, will feature the opening program.

Those attending will assemble promptly at 1 o'clock Saturday at the main postoffice building, according to Mr. Grizzard, and will leave for Oxford in charge of Robert L. Hale, associate lay leader.

Plumbing Ordinance Changes Recommended

Increase of from 75 cents to $1 in fees for installation of each plumbing fixture or trap and a charge of $2 for permits for installation of septic tanks were recommended Thursday afternoon by the ordinance committee, which at the same time approved a paper calling for reduction of the licenses for plumbers and gas fitting from $75 a year to $40.

Among other papers which the committee approved were the following: Change of the name of Mayflower place to Stillwood avenue; rezoning of the north side of Fourteenth street from near Williams to Techwood drive from dwelling house to business; rezoning of property on the south side of Los Angeles avenue beginning 100 feet east of North High-

Teachers To Honor Sutton at Dinner

Members of the Atlanta Public School Teachers' Association tonight will pay honor to Dr. Willis A. Sutton, who recently was elected president of the National Education Association. The affair is being arranged under the direction of Miss Alice Mann, president, and committees from the organization.

Beginning at 6:30 o'clock at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel, dinner will be served, to be followed by a program in which leading members of the association, Dr. McIntosh M. Burns, president of the Atlanta board of education, and Dr. Sutton will participate.

It is expected that 700 will attend the affair. The invocation will be made by W. J. Scott, and Miss Mann will preside as toastmistress.

A galaxy of speakers will review the progress of the world in a series of short talks in which Miss Margie Webster will speak on "The Wagon Age," Miss Lucile Hunter on "The Scooter Age," Miss Perle Bokritsky on "The Bicycle Age," W. T. Dent on "The Truck Age," Miss Jessie Nuss on "The Automobile Age," Miss Mary Postell on "The Locomotive," Dr. Burns on "The Ship of State," Miss Ethel Hartwell, "An Airplane Stowaway," and Dr. Sutton on "The Airplane."

The delegates decided today to take up the question then. A commission of seven appointed in Seattle last year reported in favor of removing the headquarters and the committee on laws reported favorably upon constitutional changes necessary to effect the transfer.

A resolution was adopted today by which the organization joined the American Federation of Labor in a movement to "organize the south." The convention voted to give emphasis to the movement in New Orleans.

The first fall meeting of the North Boulevard Park Civic League will be held at 8 o'clock tonight in the Virginia Avenue Baptist church, Virginia avenue and Park drive, it was announced by M. D. Berry Thursday.

"Safety" will constitute the keynote of the meeting, it was said, with particular application to pedestrian and vehicular traffic. The Atlanta Safety Council will be represented by a speaker. Music will feature the program.

Body of Murdered Negress Discovered

Apparently slugged to death, the body of an unidentified negro woman was found early Thursday afternoon in a field near Tech High school by two students taking a short cut to Spiller's park, they reported to the police.

Charles Rudder, of 637 Cherokee avenue, and Cornelius White, of 765 St. Charles avenue, told officers the woman's body was almost covered by grass and weeds when they found her. A broom handle and some pliers were found near her head, they said.

Investigators and attaches at the Dunn funeral home said the woman was probably about 25 years old. Her clothing was torn and her head badly bruised.

NOW FOR THE RUN-OFF.

The democratic state primary has passed into history with the exception of the run-off primary on October 1 between the two leaders in the race for the gubernatorial nomination. The nominations already made all down the line mean the election of the nominees, and meanwhile the furors, surprises, victories and defeats of the primary will largely be amortized and easily forgotten.

During the course of the campaign The Constitution has maintained its policy of equity and impartiality toward contenders in a party referendum. It has been its part to give the candidates fair opportunities to lay their claims before the people and to publish the facts of developing public opinion without bias or color of favoritism.

In the run-off between the two candidates for the nomination for governor The Constitution will continue to give the public the information justly due to it, that the voters may act intelligently and upon their own judgments.

We express no preference as to either of the contenders, because both are men of approved popularity and experience in state affairs and either of them will make the state a sincere and trustworthy chief executive.

The conditions in the state government call for earnest study and wise skill in their future management and such study and skill may be reasonably expected from either of candidates between whom the electors will make choice on October 1.

The Constitution will present their claims with the fullness and fairness they equally deserve and be content to accept the decision the people will register on October 1.

AN AIR-LINE TO FLORIDA.

This morning representatives of State Highway No. 3 Association, coming from leading communities on that route between Griffin and Thomasville, will appear before the state highway board. They come to plead for the early completion of those portions of the route that yet need hard paving in order to supply an almost air-line first-class highway from Atlanta to the Florida line, completing a direct all-paved highway from Tennessee to Florida.

No. 3 is one of the most convenient and important of the yet uncompleted cross-state highways.
Florida.

The link from Atlanta to Griffin is now hard paved, from Ellenville to Thomasville is hard paved, while the link from the last named to the Florida connection is being rapidly paved. It is the link from Griffin to Ellenville and a short stretch between Americus and Albany that are now being strongly argued for prompt paving.

It may be reasonably expected that the highway board, fully appreciative of the value of the full line of No. 3 to the people of the state, and the great attraction it will have for tourist travel to and from Florida, will endeavor within its competency to grant the appeal to be made to it today to speedily complete this much-needed highway.

THE ROOSEVELT PLAN.

A notable sensation has been sprung in the political circles of the country by the bold and explicit declaration of Governor Franklin Roosevelt, of New York, in favor of the straight-out repeal of the eighteenth, or prohibition, amendment of the federal constitution.

The Roosevelt letter accentuates the national importance of prohibition reform more cogently and explicitly than any previous declaration from any high public source.
Even more than the thought-provoking stand of Ambassador Morrow in the New Jersey case, the Roosevelt demand projects the prohibition issue into the field of national political discussion for a new decision.

Governor Roosevelt argues for the straight-out repeal of the eighteenth amendment and the substitution for it of another amendment restoring to the states their original right to control, regulate or prohibit the incidents of liquor production and distribution by statewide, county, city or village option. He stands four-square against any manner of return of the retail liquor saloon—as do all men and women who are sincere advocates of temperance.

Local option by state government units in any public interest has always been democratic—federal domination of the domestic institutions of the states never has been democratic.

Every day now the prohibition problem, as presented by the futile constitutional amendment, is growing in importance. It is splitting party lines in states and in the country as a whole. The effort to dodge it, as has been done by the republicans in Illinois, will not satisfy the growing popular demand for a new and better dealing with liquor and its lawlessness than is being given by the federal powers.

Eventually and soon the people will force the major parties to open action against "prohibition as is"
and demand of them available rational reform of and relief from the present policy.

Both parties will have to face that demand in their next national conventions.

So far as the democrats are concerned Governor Roosevelt presents a sane and persuasive substitute policy, resting upon ancient state rights among which the greatest is the right of the state to be protected in its domestic concerns.
That means that a dry state shall have its voluntary dryness guaranteed to it by the power of the whole people.

Sooner or later the people, tired of the tragedy of present enforcement methods and the futility of the operation of the eighteenth amendment, will endorse the Roosevelt plan and insist upon its submission to take the place of the unwise, repulsive and inefficient prohibition policy under the eighteenth amendment.

The campaign expenses of Carter Glass to get his senatorial renomination in Virginia is sworn to by him as "2 cents." Cheap enough, if you ask us.

Jim Ham Lewis has opened his senatorial campaign in Illinois, but whether with a corkscrew or a bungstarter is not mentioned in the news report.

The big boy of the wets, John Phillip Hill, gets nominated in Maryland and the big boy of the dries, Grant Hudson, gets defeated in Michigan. Maybe that's what some people call a paradox.

Senator Hefflin announces that he is not dead, but maybe he doesn't know it yet. The real news is not due until November 4.

Governor Roosevelt has adopted the familiar old slogan: "Here's how!"

Senator Couzens won a renomination. It is hard to beat fifty million dollars—in Michigan.

Senator Jim Watson has found his campaign voice, but there is no whoopie in it for Hoover.

Argentina has done the usual South American thing—pull off a revolution and then float a loan.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Marriages.

Much has been written and spoken during the past few years of the idea of "trial marriage," and people are inclined to regard it as something very new and modern, but to the traveler in Dalmatia who makes himself acquainted with the ordinary life of the peasant there it comes as no new thing. Among the Slav villages population in the neighborhood of Spalato trial marriages are the rule rather than the exception, even at the present time, when the normal correspondent of the Observer. When a youth and a maiden feel that they like each other sufficiently well to be married, they set up a home and live together as man and wife, later generally after the birth of the first son, they legalize the union by a formal ceremony. This region has the reputation of being highly moral, and in very few cases the trial marriages turn out unsuccessfully, both the man and woman doing all possible during the periods of probation to create a good impression.

Tailors' Dummies.

One of the most charming things about Paris life is that in many respects it has the character of life in a village. The Parisian likes to think of his life as on terms of intimate acquaintance with the well-known personalities of the political, social, literary and theatrical life of his town, and he certainly knows his neighbors when he meets them. Consequently, he has no difficulty in recognizing the portraits of them which ready-made dummies have adopted the habit of using as the heads of the dummies in their shop windows. At first these heads were in wax and were more or less realistic likenesses. More recently, since the always cadaverous quality of wax figure with its tow hair has been abandoned for fashion purposes, and even ladies' dresses are exhibited in wooden and sometimes merely profile models of a frankly unrealistic character, portraiture has been replaced, by caricature. There are caricatures of types and heads, but they are actually short and stout, which they have scandalized the tailors' shops of a few years ago.

M. Poincare.

M. Poincare was born on August 20, 1859, and he has, therefore, celebrating his 70th birthday. After a successful career at the bar, he first became a minister in 1893, and as he has been the post of minister of public instruction, it was he who presented to M. Tardieu the first prize of the concours general between all the lycées of France. He has three times been prime minister—five times minister of the reconstruction of a government is taken to mean a new premiership—and he is the only man since the third republic was established who has held once more prime minister, or even to re-enter political life, after having been president of the republic. He has three times been elected to the Council of the Order of Advocates, which means that in the ordinary course of things he will become batonier, or leader of the bar and for a year at least will be out of politics. But he may, after all, decide not to accept the honor, and some of the press consider that his 70th birthday seems to indicate that he has friends who either want him back as prime minister, or once more as president of the republic, in succession to M. Doumergue, who retires at the end of this year.

PRAY TELL ME, ARTFUL DODG-ER, WHAT IS YOUR WEAKNESS NOW?

Every so often somebody undertakes to tell me of the wonderful efficacy of some queer medicine, or some old method of treatment, or some freak remedy. The argument in such an effort is usually a whopper, and the second-hand report of a case in which the ordinary doctor, or preferably a given one or pronounced a fatal prognosis or just made matters worse by their bungling, and finally some spiced stranger horns in with a little recommendation. You can then it is just like a book: "I have read of 70-cent books you pay $2 for if you can't wait a year to read it."

I quote from such a testimonial:
"The lady brought her daughter of 11 years and the nurse with her, for the child had chorea so badly that the two people were needed to guide her when she walked. Specialist after specialist had consulted;
the last one informed the mother again that there was no hope. The father held nothing for her daughter but insanity and death."

's what I call pretty grim and sinister writing. I'd like to meet the "specialist after specialist" who who see no hope with the child chorea. I'd particularly like to have one look at the bird who foresaw insanity and death. He must have been a regular lalapa, but if it was a "nervous specialist," that's what one might expect.

Of course the little patient did not die, and neither did she die. She got well, as all chorea cases do, when the illness has run its course. In some cases the course is three weeks; in more it is three months; in a few it is a year or two or even three. To a certain degree the duration of the illness depends on the kind of care the patient receives. The child in this case evidently received the worst possible care, for her parents provided a horrible environment for the poor kid, an atmosphere of suppliciousness and despair, with the madhouse and the grave always there ahead. Cried! Some poet Johnny has said something about man's inhumanity to man, and here it is in a case manity to children and you've spoken true.

Chorea never brings insanity. There is no monster to expect a child with St. Vitus' dance to go insane or to become feeble-minded or to develop any other mental or nervous abnormality or deficiency than there is to fear such an outcome in a case of measles, tonsillitis or pneumonia.
Chorea is not a "nervous malady" at all. It is simply an infectious disease of childhood as of "nervous" character, that is caused by invasion of body tissues by germs. It is wrong in theory and wrong in practice to regard this common infectious disease of childhood as of "nervous" character. To put such a stigma on it is a crucial to the little patient and an unkindness to the parents or relatives of the patient. It is a direct blow at the patient's welfare.

The One Who Exalteth Not Himself Is The One the World Calls Up Higher

By Robert Quillen

Most of the annoyances that give your day a bitter-flavor are a result of looking for trouble.

Perhaps you won't admit the truth of that, for you think of yourself as a reasonable person who endures much and never invites a quarrel. But if you are a normal human with an unwhipped spirit, you carry a chip on your shoulder.

You are quick to resent any trespass on your rights; you are ready to speak up at any moment and demand all that is coming to you; you are on your guard lest anybody slight you or fail to show you the con- sideration and respect to which you feel entitled.

The inevitable result, in a world that has little interest in your feel- ings, is a succession of irritating incidents that spoil your day regardless of their outcome.

The cause of all this irritation is the fact that you feel entitled to certain things, and the cure is a bedrock humility.

Most people are afraid of humility. They think it will shame them—that the world will take advantage of it and trample on them.

But humility doesn't mean boot-licking. It is an element of great- ness—a fine and manly quality possessed by every servant of humanity who has earned a page in history.

To be humble is merely to realize that you aren't "entitled" to any- thing—to demand nothing and expect nothing.

Once you develop that state of mind, you have a new sense of free- dom and peace and your life is purged of petty annoyances.

Because you are no longer belligerent, you no longer arouse in others a spirit of antagonism. Your neighbor no longer cares about the line fence because you aren't contentious about it. The world offers you the seat for which it would have contended tooth and nail if you had tried to take it. There is no fun in trying to beat a man who says: "After you, sir."

Do you think that is both—that a hard-boiled world will take ad- vantage of him?

Well, Lindbergh was remarkably humble. Did the world take ad- vantage of him?

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

Answered by
DR. S. PARKES CADMAN.

Questions from Constitution readers are answered daily by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, radio minister at the Church of Christ in America, Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that ap- pear in the many letters which he re- ceives.

Will you kindly recommend the best English translations of Goethe's Faust and Dante's Divine Comedy?

The "best" among the number of translations, all of which are excel- lent, is the one that does not seem to decide. I am glad, however, to name the translations which I personally use and enjoy. Of Goethe's Faust, the translation by Charles W. Eliot, in the Temple Classics, or in "Everyman's Library." Of Dante's Divine Comedy the classic translation in English is H. F. Cary's, but many find it difficult. Longfellow's is easier to read because it is less literal. Dr. John A. Hutton, who has recently published a translation of Dante in the British Weekly of London, recom- mends the translation of H. F. Cary, published by the Clarendon Press, and if you find it too hard to read, you will find it most lucid. Use Cary and Fozz side by side.

Glen Falls, N. Y.
I am very anxious to be a good speaker and listen in every Sunday to you on the radio.

How can one master the art of speaking?

The simplest reply is, by having something to say and knowing how to say it. But this requires a continual apprehension of his birthday seems to indicate that he has friends who either want him back as prime minister, or once more as president of the republic, in succession to M. Doumergue, who retires at the end of this year.

How can God compel a free man to do what he does not want to do?

By the attraction of His resistless love. You may recall how in "The Hound of Heaven" the poet Thompson does not pain God as an ally, but as the captor of the soul, demand- ing its instant surrender for its highest good. Undoubtedly there are mo- mentary instances of resistance to the Divine Will, but in the long run, the love of Christ constraineth men.

This is not only true of human nature, but of the universe. Since Pro- fessor Eddington informs us that physics is no longer pledged to a scheme of determinism, we may say that there is room enough in the universe for the Deity's perfect liberty of action. In this connection Scripture assures us that He inter- venes to make all things work together for good for them that love Him. The consciousness that notwithstanding the severity of earth's struggles we are enveloped by heaven's aid, and the conviction that ultimately we shall conquer, are due to the breath of God's power and the whisper of His Will. I am persuaded that a very real co-operation between God and man creates the ceaseless attempts to elevate life whether in the individual, the community or the universe.

from complete, constituting virtually nothing more than an estimate on proportionate figures, as only unit votes were reported by many counties.

Russell was notable in that the ballots carried the longest list of candidates ever presented to the voters of Georgia at one primary. In one race, that of secretary of state, there were eight candidates, in the govern- or's race five and in another four. This resulted in delays in the tabula- tion of the vote which, together with electric lines which interfered with telegraph and telephone connections in many parts of the state, made col- lection of the final results much slower and more difficult than at any time in the past.

Results Unchanged.

Despite these conditions, The Con- stitution's estimated results for the various counties, published early Tuesday morning, were remarkably close to the final outcome, the few counties which did, at the end, change columns, not affecting the outcome of the race in any count.

NEW CLUES FOLLOWED IN SEARCH FOR JUDGE

Washington Woman Believed Linked With Crater's Disappearance.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—(AP)—New clues to the whereabouts of Supreme Court Justice Joseph P. Crater, who vanished 35 days ago, sent detectives today to Washington, D. C., and the Adirondacks.

Police Commissioner Mulrooney announced that a picture of the judge in Washington might have news of the justice.

A proprietor of a lodge in the Adirondacks identified a picture of the judge as that of one of two men, who spent two at his lodge. Meanwhile police here declared unfounded rumors that the missing is hiding in New York city.

Police interest in the mystery was heightened by the announcement that Justice Crater would have been an

11 SENATORS BEATEN IN EARLY PRIMARIES

Current Year Proving Hard One for Many Incumbents.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Resignations and defeats in the primaries already have eliminated eleven of the thirty-five members of the senate who were up for reelection this year, assuring one of the greatest changes in the senate makeup of recent years.

It has been a hard season on the incumbents, regardless of party affiliation. Southern democrats already have rejected three senators for re-nomination and forced a fourth—Thomas J. Heflin, of Alabama—to run as an independent.

Those senators who have weathered the primary battles in most instances are fighting for their political lives in the forthcoming election. The assault on the officeholders does not seem to have affected the house members so much, although the primaries have shown considerable reaction against house incumbents.

Of the eleven senators who retire after the next election, five were defeated for re-nomination and six declined to run again. Those who have been defeated for the party nomination are: Republicans, Deneen, Illinois, and Grundy, Pennsylvania. Democrats, Simmons, North Carolina; Blease, South Carolina, and Randall, Louisiana.

The following six republican senators declined to run for re-election: Baird, New Jersey; Gillett, Massachusetts; Goff, West Virginia; Gould, Maine; Phipps, Colorado, and Sullivan, Wyoming. Senator Brock, democrat, Tennessee, also will retire but he is running for election to complete the short unexpired term of the late Senator Tyson.

Among prominent senators who have beaten down opposition are Senators Robinson, of Arkansas, the minority leader; Norris, of Nebraska, republican independent; Couzens, republican, Michigan, and Sheppard, democrat, Texas. Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, is up for re-election this year but he has encountered no difficulties.

Whether the republicans or democrats will control the next senate is still to be determined in the forthcoming election. The republicans now have 56 of the 96 members, the democrats, 39, and the farmer-labor, one.

Of the senate seats involved in the election this year, 22 are held by republicans and 13 by democrats. Thus, the odds are against the republicans, but whether the democrats can overturn sufficient incumbents to get the majority is problematical. They are making the claim only of a "fifty-fifty" chance.

Wires To Carry Special 'Flying' Weather Report

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—The installation of an automatic telegraph typewriter weather reporting service between Atlanta and Richmond, a distance of nearly 500 miles, has been approved by the aeronautics branch of the department of commerce, F. C. Hingsburg, chief engineer airways division, announced today.

"When this service is in operation," Mr. Hingsburg said, "there will be available to airmen flying the airways a complete weather reporting service from Atlanta to Boston."

"Automatic telegraph typewriters are to be placed at Atlanta and Jefferson, Ga.; Anderson and Spartanburg, S. C.; Charlotte and Greensboro, N. C.; and South Boston, Crewe and Richmond, Va. This installation will complete the system from Atlanta to Boston, as service from Richmond to Boston has been in operation for some time. It is expected that the majority of the stations will be ready for operation within the next month or so."

"The circuit from Atlanta to Richmond is one of several, aggregating approximately 3,000 miles, which will be added during the fiscal year 1931 to the 5,600-mile system built up prior to July 1 of this year. With the addition of the Atlanta-Richmond circuit there will be approximately 6,800 miles in regular service."

HURLEY IN MEMPHIS ON RIVER INSPECTION

Shippers Ask Secretary's Aid in Deepening Channel of Mississippi.

BY C. P. WILLIAMSON, Associated Press Staff Writer. MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 11.—(AP)—Assurance local shippers were desirous of using to its capacity the channel along the Mississippi river was given Secretary Hurley tonight when he paid a brief visit to this city on his trip of inspection down the Mississippi river and its tributaries.

Intimate conversations between the secretary and representatives of local supporters of river shipping were held after a luncheon given the secretary by the Engineers' Club. At these conversations, the secretary asked many questions regarding plans for flood control, projects, rivers and harbors works and inland waterways enterprises for the Memphis engineering district.

Lieutenant Colonel F. B. Wilby, district engineer for the district, had arranged the conference for the secretary and furnished extensive data in the war secretary before he reached Memphis by speedboat from 80 miles up river in preparation for the brief stay in the city.

Before leaving the U. S. S. Mississippi in company with other members of the party who are making a trip of inspection of the river with him, Mr. Hurley instructed his personal pilot, C. W. Couland, to hold his plane in waiting for a further flight down river late tonight. Considerably fatigued from his two weeks covering some 2,000 miles the secretary rested during the afternoon after the Mississippi had docked at Memphis, with the remaining members of the party who were unable to take the speedboat down the river.

As the party sped through Memphis with an escort of motorcycle police, crowds gathered to watch the procession en route to an inspection of inland waterways Corporation barges and terminals on the river front and terminals housing the huge shipment sent up and down the river from Memphis and trans-shipped from inland from this port.

Speaking at the Engineers' Club luncheon, the secretary emphasized the policy of the Hoover administration was to make the Mississippi channel one of the greatest waterborne carriers of the world. He recalled an assertion of President Hoover, while the latter was secretary of commerce, that "every drop of water which flows out of the Mississippi river without serving a commercial purpose is so much economic loss."

A dinner given the secretary by other local organizations preceded the continuation of his trip to the Gulf.

Officers Re-elected By Textile Workers

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—(AP)—The present officers of the United Textile Workers of America were nominated today to succeed themselves. They will be elected without opposition tomorrow.

They are: Thomas F. McMahon, president; Francis J. Gorman, first vice president; William E. Kelly, second vice president, and James Starr, secretary and treasurer.

The annual convention today received a report from observers sent into the Gastonia, N. C., mill district by the American Federation of Labor, urging immediate entry of the union into that field.

Mr. Gorman, commenting on the report, said he was sure the executive committee would order such action.

"We have stayed out of Gastonia up to now for several reasons," he said. "Chief of them being that we know the communists wanted us to come in so they could benefit from our work. I believe the new executive council will decide the time is now ripe and we will go in there."

Strikes accompanied by bloodshed have marked the communists' efforts to organize the workers in the Gastonia mills. The report said communist influence was about dead and that leaders and businessmen favored the entry of the union.

The warrant was turned over to a deputy sheriff for service and bond set at $1,000. The warrant charges that Davis was acting as agent for Gibbs in a Fairfield business deal when the alleged embezzlement occurred.

Melford Pratt, mayor of Fairfield, was named as a witness in the warrant.

TERRELL COMES HOME AND DENIES KIDNAPING

Object of Search in Louisiana Says He Was on Fishing Trip.

ELDORADO, Ark., Sept. 11.—(P) James Terrell, who, with Sam Irby, disappeared from their hotel at Shreveport a week ago, reappeared at the home of his mother here today after what he said was a week's fishing trip with a party of friends.

Terrell, appearing agitated under the questioning of newspapermen, was reticent concerning an alleged kidnapping that reached its climax Tuesday with the appearance of Governor Huey P. Long, of Louisiana, in federal habeas corpus hearing at New Orleans.

He told his mother, Mrs. H. C. Hasselroth, proprietress of the Norman hotel here, that he had not been forcibly removed from his hotel. Instead he said he joined a party of friends to go fishing on an island in the Gulf of Mexico which he later learned was Grand Isle.

"I have been fishing since I left Shreveport," he said in a statement to newspapermen in the presence of his mother. "And I don't know anything about this kidnapping except

CHEMISTRY BOYCOTT IN MISSISSIPPI SEEN

Society Asks Explanation of University Professor's Dismissal.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 11.—(P) Boycott by chemistry teachers against certain Mississippi state schools because of alleged political interference was recommended in resolutions adopted by the division of chemical education, American Chemical Society here today.

"The division," said the resolution, "expresses its vigorous protest against the summary dismissal, in June of this year, of members of the faculty of state supported schools in Mississippi without charges being preferred or reasons publicly assigned. Apparently this move was dictated entirely by political motives with no relation to the educational interest of the institution or the state."

"The chancellor of the university and some of the most able men in his faculty were affected. Among these was Dr. J. N. Swan, chairman of this division, who has served long and efficiently as professor of chemistry."

"This action has aroused indignation with the state as expressed by educational leaders and by the press. We wish to add our protest to theirs. Further, we caution members of this division against accepting positions in these institutions until steps have been taken to prevent a recurrence of this unfortunate situation. We wish also to raise the question of acceptance of the future of transfer credit from these institutions unless this condition is corrected."

Ammel Postpones Flight to Europe
ROOSEVELT FIELD, New York, Sept. 11.—(P)—Captain Roy W. Ammel, Chicago broker, said tonight unfavorable weather conditions would postpone his projected transatlantic flight to Europe which had been set for tomorrow. He said he might leave Saturday.

Captain Ammel took his low-wing Lockheed monoplane for a short test spin tonight. The machine had been examined thoroughly by field mechanics and was pronounced fit.

The flyer said he hopes to circle above Paris and fly on to Berlin or Rome, according to the amount of gasoline he has left.

U. S. Jury Indicts Carolina Bankers
ROCK HILL, S. C., Sept. 11.—(P) True bills charging violation of the national banking laws were returned here today by a federal grand jury against four former officials of the defunct Newberry National bank.

Those indicted were Bud C. Mattox, president; Thomas K. Johnston, vice president; W. W. Cromer, cashier, and Fred G. Davis, assistant cashier. Some are charged with making false entries and others with misapplication of funds. Trial of the cases was set for November.

Dr. Morton Weds.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 11.—(P) Dr. David C. Morton, 51, president of the Ballard & Ballard Company, Louisville, informed relatives here of his marriage today at Richmond, Va., to Mrs. Elizabeth Booker Williams, wealthy widow of T. C. Williams, Jr., tobaccoist of that city. A son, Thurston Morton, said information of the marriage came as a surprise.

Arkansas Democrats 'Boom' Joe Robinson
HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Sept. 11.—(P)—The name of United States Senator Joe T. Robinson was presented to the state democratic convention here today for endorsement to the national convention as the party nominee for president in 1932.

Harry L. Ponder, of Walnut Ridge, temporary chairman and keynote speaker, made the presentation in the course of his address. Senator Robinson, whose recent renomination at the polls was certified today to the convention, was not present.

"The star of destiny seems at this time to be turning toward Arkansas," Mr. Ponder said. "When the democratic national convention meets next time the signs of the political heavens indicate that a distinguished and native son will be nominated and will be called upon to lead the untiered hosts in the next great national campaign."

Mr. Ponder assailed the republican party and laid at its door responsibility for the present depression. He asserted the tariff bill, which he called the "Grundtvig-Hoover" tariff law, had paralyzed business and predicted that a nation-wide recovery of business could not come under the "tariff walls which in effect constitute an embargo on foreign goods."

The Arkansas republican organization and Oco Cobb, of Montgomery county, its chairman, were assailed also by Mr. Ponder and Cobb's recent invitation to "independent democrats" to join with the republicans in electing their nominees was ridiculed.

He replied also to Cobb's charge that rules governing democratic primaries were tyrannical. Ponder said that in reconstruction days the republicans in power in this state without pretext took away from all Confederate supporters the right of franchise.

Educator Candidate In Connecticut Race
EASTERN POINT, Conn., Sept. 11.—(P)—Dr. Wilbur L. Cross, retired dean of the Yale graduate school, was nominated today as the democratic candidate for governor at the state convention. He was selected by acclamation. There were no other nominations.

The preamble of the platform presented to the convention held the republican party responsible for the present industrial depression. The outstanding plank in it called for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act and a declaration that the state should be ruled by its needs and "not by and for the benefit of an invisible machine." Most of the other planks dealt with state problems.

N. A. T. Purchases Stout Air Lines
CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—(P)—National Air Transport announced tonight the purchase of Stout Air Services, operating passenger lines between Chicago, Detroit and Cleveland. Both companies are divisions of the United Aircraft and Transport Corporation and their activities will be merged as rapidly as possible, Lester D. Seymour, vice president and general manager of N. A. T., said. His company carries air mail and express between New York, Chicago and Dallas.

Young Britons to U. S.
NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—(P)—Sixteen English boys will arrive tomorrow on the Grenada to go to American boarding schools on scholarships presented by a group of British and American headmasters whose purpose is to strengthen international friendship through schoolboy contacts.

'Chosen' Killer Widely Sought In Nova Scotia

TRURO, Nova Scotia, Sept. 11.—(UN)—A detachment of troops from Halifax tonight joined with police in one of the greatest manhunts Nova Scotia has ever known—a search for a maniac who believes he has been appointed by God to kill people in wholesale numbers.

The maniac, Otis Gupitil, escaped from the Kings county home for the insane last Monday. His disappearance did not become publicly known until today.

Gupitil had been confined to the asylum since last February, when he tried to slaughter a group of school children with a shotgun, according to officials.

Gupitil, when he made his escape from the hospital, was not armed. It is not thought likely that he is now.

The crazed man lived for years in the Hardscrabble mountains, back of Wolfville.

According to police, one morning last February he went to the home of his nephew, Harry Gupitil. He was armed with a shotgun and tried to enter the house. Mrs. Gupitil, at home alone, barred the door and kept him out.

After he left she happened to look through a window and saw him lining up a dozen children in front of the West Brooklyn school.

Seizing a shotgun, Mrs. Gupitil ran out. She arrived just as Gupitil raised his own shotgun, pointing it at the group of frightened children. He was shouting, "You have to die for God."

Mrs. Gupitil fired before Gupitil could pull the trigger and he dropped to the ground, severely wounded. He recovered and had been confined to the asylum since.

Last Sunday he told visitors at the institution that he could escape any time he wanted. "Whenever God is ready," he told them, "He will give

Farmer Tells Story Of Robbery, Torture

BATESVILLE, Ark., Sept. 11.—(P)—James Swain, 65, prominent farmer of this section, today told officers that two roughly dressed men late yesterday accosted him while hunting, tortured him for 12 hours, then bound and gagged him and fled with $2,000 in cashier's checks, some small change and his automobile.

Swain said the men tortured him continually by sticking pins in his flesh and he said also they threatened him with death unless he divulged the hiding place for a supposedly large sum of money he kept.

Convinced he was telling them the truth they finally released him from a tree and took him to his own garage and bound and gagged him.

Man Seriously Hurt In Yacht Explosion
NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 11.—(P)—The Eagle, a yacht of the state conservation department which was to be used today to carry a party of scientists to the mouth of the Mississippi river to gather some data, blew up while tied up at Harvey, La., and seriously injured Fred Lee, of New Orleans, the only man aboard. The yacht was partially wrecked.

It was believed Lee went aboard to place the yacht in readiness for the trip when for some unexplained reason an explosion occurred on board. Lee was dragged from the burning cabin by persons nearby.

WELL-KNOWN MEMPHIS MINISTER IS KILLED

86-Year-Old Divine Run Down by Automobile.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 11.—(P) The Rev. George M. Martin, 86, assistant pastor of the First Methodist church, died last night shortly after being run down by an automobile driven by F. C. Smith, 38, an employee of the Ford motor plant.

Dr. Martin's son, the late J. H. Martin, was fatally injured almost one year ago to a day when his automobile collided with another car, driven by W. T. (Billy) Overton, September 15, 1929.

Dr. Martin, for 30 years assistant pastor of First Methodist church, was returning home with his daughter, Mrs. Thomas S. McFerrin, after conducting Wednesday night prayer services at the church when his car ran out of gasoline. He went to a nearby filling station and started back to the car with an attendant carrying gasoline. It was raining and Dr. Martin was carrying an umbrella when the automobile driven by Mr. Smith struck him.

His daughter said she believed the accident unavoidable, according to police. Mr. Smith said that he stopped within a short distance and had been driving only about 15 miles an hour when Mr. Martin, the umbrella lowered over his face, stepped directly into the path of the car. Smith was held on a charge of manslaughter.

The accident of last night was the third to concern Dr. Martin recently. He was conducting the prayer meet-

HE SUFFERED FOR YEARS WITH PILES

Bleeding Kind Was So Painful He Slept on a Pillow

TELLS HOW FINALLY HE OVERCAME PILES

"It was no cinch for me to overcome my pile trouble because I suffered more or less that way for twenty-five years, but in six weeks' time I was rid of piles and feeling like a new man and thinking it simply wonderful. I am writing to let the whole world know," declares Hugo Miller, a prominent paperhanger of Abbottsford, Wisconsin.

"My piles were the bleeding kind. Pains in the bowels almost doubled me up sometimes and the pain was so bad that I couldn't lay in bed comfortably, so I slept with a pillow under me. Of course I already had tried a number of remedies for piles through the years but they did no good until a couple months ago I ran across these wonderful Colace Pile Pills. The first couple bottles began to show results. The pain got less and then stopped. I kept on taking them for a full six weeks and it was marvelous the way they worked. I recommended Colace Pile Pills to everybody now," continued Mr. Miller.

"Until the perfection of these pills, which you swallow with a little water at meal times, about the only remedies known for piles were a surgical operation, salve or suppositories. Now nobody need suffer any longer. They are guaranteed to completely relieve you of every sign of piles or money back without quibble or question. At drug stores or by return mail on receipt of 75c in stamps or coins. Colace Chemical Co., Brentwood, Maryland.—(adv.)

U. S. Jury Indicts Carolina Bankers

ROCK HILL, S. C., Sept. 11.—(P) True bills charging violation of the national banking laws were returned here today by a federal grand jury against four former officials of the defunct Newberry National bank.

Those indicted were Bud C. Mattox, president; Thomas K. Johnston, vice president; W. W. Cromer, cashier, and Fred G. Davis, assistant cashier. Some are charged with making false entries and others with misapplication of funds. Trial of the cases was set for November.

Dr. Morton Weds.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 11.—(P) Dr. David C. Morton, 51, president of the Ballard & Ballard Company, Louisville, informed relatives here of his marriage today at Richmond, Va., to Mrs. Elizabeth Booker Williams, wealthy widow of T. C. Williams, Jr., tobaccoist of that city. A son, Thurston Morton, said information of the marriage came as a surprise.

Arkansas Democrats 'Boom' Joe Robinson
HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Sept. 11.—(P)—The name of United States Senator Joe T. Robinson was presented to the state democratic convention here today for endorsement to the national convention as the party nominee for president in 1932.

Harry L. Ponder, of Walnut Ridge, temporary chairman and keynote speaker, made the presentation in the course of his address. Senator Robinson, whose recent renomination at the polls was certified today to the convention, was not present.

"The star of destiny seems at this time to be turning toward Arkansas," Mr. Ponder said. "When the democratic national convention meets next time the signs of the political heavens indicate that a distinguished and native son will be nominated and will be called upon to lead the untiered hosts in the next great national campaign."

Mr. Ponder assailed the republican party and laid at its door responsibility for the present depression. He asserted the tariff bill, which he called the "Grundtvig-Hoover" tariff law, had paralyzed business and predicted that a nation-wide recovery of business could not come under the "tariff walls which in effect constitute an embargo on foreign goods."

The Arkansas republican organization and Oco Cobb, of Montgomery county, its chairman, were assailed also by Mr. Ponder and Cobb's recent invitation to "independent democrats" to join with the republicans in electing their nominees was ridiculed.

He replied also to Cobb's charge that rules governing democratic primaries were tyrannical. Ponder said that in reconstruction days the republicans in power in this state without pretext took away from all Confederate supporters the right of franchise.

Educator Candidate In Connecticut Race
EASTERN POINT, Conn., Sept. 11.—(P)—Dr. Wilbur L. Cross, retired dean of the Yale graduate school, was nominated today as the democratic candidate for governor at the state convention. He was selected by acclamation. There were no other nominations.

The preamble of the platform presented to the convention held the republican party responsible for the present industrial depression. The outstanding plank in it called for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act and a declaration that the state should be ruled by its needs and "not by and for the benefit of an invisible machine." Most of the other planks dealt with state problems.

Farmer Tells Story Of Robbery, Torture
BATESVILLE, Ark., Sept. 11.—(P)—James Swain, 65, prominent farmer of this section, today told officers that two roughly dressed men late yesterday accosted him while hunting, tortured him for 12 hours, then bound and gagged him and fled with $2,000 in cashier's checks, some small change and his automobile.

Swain said the men tortured him continually by sticking pins in his flesh and he said also they threatened him with death unless he divulged the hiding place for a supposedly large sum of money he kept.

Convinced he was telling them the truth they finally released him from a tree and took him to his own garage and bound and gagged him.

Man Seriously Hurt In Yacht Explosion
NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 11.—(P)—The Eagle, a yacht of the state conservation department which was to be used today to carry a party of scientists to the mouth of the Mississippi river to gather some data, blew up while tied up at Harvey, La., and seriously injured Fred Lee, of New Orleans, the only man aboard. The yacht was partially wrecked.

It was believed Lee went aboard to place the yacht in readiness for the trip when for some unexplained reason an explosion occurred on board. Lee was dragged from the burning cabin by persons nearby.

WELL-KNOWN MEMPHIS MINISTER IS KILLED
86-Year-Old Divine Run Down by Automobile.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 11.—(P) The Rev. George M. Martin, 86, assistant pastor of the First Methodist church, died last night shortly after being run down by an automobile driven by F. C. Smith, 38, an employee of the Ford motor plant.

Dr. Martin's son, the late J. H. Martin, was fatally injured almost one year ago to a day when his automobile collided with another car, driven by W. T. (Billy) Overton, September 15, 1929.

Dr. Martin, for 30 years assistant pastor of First Methodist church, was returning home with his daughter, Mrs. Thomas S. McFerrin, after conducting Wednesday night prayer services at the church when his car ran out of gasoline. He went to a nearby filling station and started back to the car with an attendant carrying gasoline. It was raining and Dr. Martin was carrying an umbrella when the automobile driven by Mr. Smith struck him.

Democrats Don't Want Clear House Margin, Sullivan Says

Party Will Gain at Least 30 Seats But Leaders Fear Majority, Writer Believes.

BY MARK SULLIVAN.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—The official statement of democratic expectations about the November election, as put out by Jonett Shouse, chairman of the democratic national executive committee, has greater significance than appears on the surface.

Confining what here is discussed to the house and omitting the senate, the pertinent portions of Chairman Shouse's statement says: "I have never predicted the election of a democratic house, but the reports that have come into headquarters would fully justify such prediction. I stand on the statement made several weeks ago that we shall have a net gain of at least 40 house seats." The number needed by the democrats to attain a house majority is 54.

Chairman Shouse's statement is completely accurate and candid. So far as it varies from a literal expression of a state of mind it is an understatement. It is a fact that the aggregate of expectations sincerely held by democratic state leaders is more than the necessary 54. Democratic leaders in Ohio expect a gain of at least five seats; in Kentucky at least four seats; in Missouri at least three seats, and so on through other states with an aggregate of considerably more than 54.

These are expectations and these are democratic. Excepting as to Missouri, Kentucky, and one or two other states, the writer of this dispatch does not know any republican leader who agrees with the claims made by the democrats as to specific states. It is a fact, however, that some thoroughly well informed republican leaders believe the total democratic gains will be at least 30. Between Chairman Shouse's claim of 40 and republican leaders' concessions of 30, the difference is not great, considering that the total involved is 54.

Without impugning Chairman Shouse's sincerity and considering that his phraseology is safely guarded, it would not be unfair to say that the figure he mentions, 40, is less than he and his associates in democratic leadership actually expect. When he mentions 40, or 14 less than the needed majority, the wish is father to the thought.

It may be surprising, but the fact is that some of the more responsible democratic leaders do not want a majority in the house. What they want is some small number short of a majority. The reason for this state of mind calls for explanation. It can be made clear by comparing two possible outcomes.

If the democrats win 40 seats the republican majority in the house would be 14. In that condition, according to democratic hope, just about 14 or perhaps a few more of the republicans would see and seize the opportunity to be insurgent republicans or progressive republicans. As such the 14 or more would have a kind of balance of power. By uniting, as their fellow progressive republicans in the senate have united, they could demand concessions and they could, to put it as politicians put it, make trouble. By co-operating with the democrats, as their fellow progressive republicans in the senate co-operate, the result would be, as the result already is in the senate, trouble for the republicans, for the republican leaders and for the republican administration in the White House.

Such trouble for the republicans is believed by democrats, quite legitimately, to be the best means of ridding up public dissatisfaction with the republican administration in the White House.

DAY IN FINANCE

By

R. L. BARNUM

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Steel common and other leaders were soft in the early trading reflecting yesterday's weekly steel trade reviews which were none too optimistic and also the overnight government report. On declining prices, however, the stock market went dead.

The best opinion in Wall Street is that the stock market is influenced less and less by unfavorable news while increasingly showing signs of wanting to take advantage of existing bullish leadership and go higher on the first definitely encouraging news.

Today's unfavorable news included the passing of the Calumet and Hecla dividend of 30 cents. Six months ago $1 was declared and nine months ago $1.50. Wall Street is not expecting much encouragement from the August copper production and consumption figures to be published before the end of this week.

St. Paul railroad cut the annual interest on its 5 per cent income bonds from $5 to $3. This was forecasted in this column a couple of weeks ago. There are $182,000,000 of these bonds outstanding calling for $9,145,000 interest at the 5 per cent rate. These bonds were issued in the reorganization of 1928 in exchange for all outstanding bonds with the exception of the prior liens. Before the receiver was dismissed $2 was paid. Then $2 was paid in 1928 with $5.50 in 1929 and $2.50 this April. The bonds became cumulative with the beginning of this year so that holders will get back interest under 5 per cent earned. Earnings for the first half of this year ending with June were not sufficient to pay the full 2 1/2 per cent due October 1.

Reorganization Short. Evidently the St. Paul reorganization was not as thorough as that of the Frisco in 1916. The Frisco issued income bonds, paid the full interest due and in 1928 retired the income bonds through the sale of 4 1/2 per cent bonds also retiring the preferred stock issued in their reorganization.

St. Paul has suffered this year from the depression in general business, from conditions in the wheat and corn belts and from greatly curtailed activities in the copper industry. St. Paul is controlled by the same interests that control Anaconda Copper and is closer allied with the Montana copper industry than any other railroad.

There was good news today in the regular $2 quarterly dividend declared by directors of Southern Railway.

Wall Street Showing Better Resistance to Unfavorable News. Regular $2 Southern Railway Dividend Payment Thursday. Was One Bright Spot in Business Picture.

Southern Railway has not earned its dividend during the first half of this year. But the company has an accumulated surplus from which such payments may be made. As has already been pointed out in this column Wall Street bankers in close touch with the railroads are confident that no important railroads will reduce its dividend for the remainder of this year. Earnings of the railroads for the last half of the year are always larger than for the first half. What happens to railroad dividends the first half of 1931 depends on the trend of general trade and also on whether the railroads will be able to cut down the percentage of gross used for operating expenses.

Rumors were heard here today that Norfolk and Western, which has been controlled by Pennsylvania through ownership of stock, is planning to increase its annual dividend from $10 to $12, pay an extra $2 dividend and split up its stock four for one. It is understood that the company will earn this year around $25 a share on its stock. The company has $140,000,000 outstanding common stock. On December 31 last the accumulated surplus amounted to $142,000,000, built up from surplus earnings over and above dividends and generous expenditures from current earnings for improvements and betterments properly chargeable to capital account.

New Low Record. The percentage of 531 of brokers' loans to the value of listed stocks just reported by the New York Stock Exchange as of September 11 is a new low record. It compares with last year's high of 9.82 and with the record high of 10.23 of March, 1929, shortly after these figures were first published. Evidently comparatively few stocks are being carried on margin.

Based on conditions existing September 1, the government estimates this year's corn crop at 1,982,000,000 bushels, a reduction of 229,000,000 bushels from a year ago and 631,000,000 less than a year ago when the crop was considerably below the five-year average of 2,700,000,000 bushels. With the exception of 1901 it is the smallest corn crop since 1894. The estimate of spring wheat is raised 17,000,000 bushels from a month ago to 2,400,000,000 bushels making the total wheat crop for the year 5,377,000,000 bushels against 5,000,000,000 for 1929, and with four exceptions, the largest in 11 years. The corn crop is not the failure widely predicted during the worst of the August heat and drought. But with our wheat carry over from the total 1929 crop, 20,000,000 bushels larger than the carry over from the large 1928 crop of 394,000,000 bushels, there is going to be more than enough wheat to go around.

These figures explain the existing high price for corn and the low price for wheat. The worst of the strain of the corn shortage is not likely to be felt until late in the winter or next spring when existing supplies have been exhausted. When the selling pressure of wheat now being rushed to market runs its course a recovery in wheat prices is to be expected. The outlook for the buying power of the corn and wheat farmers this autumn and winter, however, is one of the important factors influencing those who believe our recovery from existing trade depression will be slow.

The government's offer of $325,000,000 one year treasury notes bearing 2 3/8 per cent interest, the lowest interest rates on record for such certificates, remained open two days. It brought in total subscriptions of $1,237,000,000. Subscriptions of $1,000,000 were allotted 15 per cent, those asking for from $500,000 to $1,000,000 getting 30 per cent, from $100,000 to $500,000, 40 per cent, and so on down to asking for $1,000, which will get 100 per cent. Small subscribers are likely to hold the notes until maturity, hence the full allotment of such subscribers. But the most interesting feature is the latest treasury financing is the total amount of subscriptions reflecting the enormous amount of idle capital seeking safe employment.

1 MILLION IN GOLD SHIPPED TO CANADA

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—(P)—The Canadian Bank of Commerce today shipped $1,000,000 in gold to Canada. The gold statement of the New York federal reserve bank for the week ended September 10 showed imports of $2,354,000, including $1,300,000 from Uruguay, $1,000,000 from Venezuela and $54,000 from other Latin-American countries. Exports consisted of $3,000,000 to Canada. There was no change in stocks of gold earmarked for foreign account.

McGraw-Hill Construction daily reports that activity tapered off in heavy construction throughout the country during the past week. Projects of all classes, except highways, aggregated $56,043,000, against $62,736,000 in the previous week, and $64,760,000 in the week of 1929. Railway improvements accounted for $21,024,000 of the week's total, of which a $13,000,000 extension by the Texas & Pacific to its line between Big Springs and Amarillo, Texas, was the largest.

More Analyses Enter Steel Merger Suit

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Sept. 11.—(P)—The future of the pipe and sheet steel industry came in for further analysis during the testimony of W. C. Kelly, operating vice president of Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., in the hearing of the suit to enjoin the merger of that company with Bethlehem Steel Corporation.

Impending changes in the methods of manufacture of these principal products of the Youngstown company, would require an expenditure of $31,500,000 for removal from its mills if it did not merge, Kelly testified.

Questioned by Attorney F. H. Wood, Bethlehem counsel, the witness stated his view as to what is likely to happen to Youngstown's present facilities for finishing pipe. He said that the trade is now demanding all lengths of pipe while Sheet & Tube's equipment is set up for furnishing 20 to 23 feet lengths. There is also demand, he said, for lighter pipe, the manufacture of which requires higher content of carbon and manganese in the steel, which can be electrically welded, but not lap welded. These changes will require new equipment for finishing, he said.

The original cost of Youngstown's lap weld mills was shown as $7,305,383 and the depreciated value $4,150,447.

Reilly previously testified that depreciation rates, in his experience, should be higher on the lighter class of steel products because of the additional processes they require.

Survey Gauges Effect Of Drouth on Crops

BY FRANK I. WELLER, Associated Press Farm Editor. WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(P)—The drouth has cost the country a loss of corn almost bushel for bushel as large as the entire yield of wheat. On July 1 the crop reporting board forecast a corn crop of 2,802,000,000 bushels, 188,000,000 bushels more than the crop of 1929 and 103,000,000 bushels more than the five-year average. But the blazing heat of July and August struck 820,000,000 bushels off the anticipated corn field—just 17,000,000 bushels less than all the wheat the United States is expected to raise this year.

Because the country always feeds about as much corn as it usually grows, the farm board sees an opportunity for the wheat crop to be swelled by the deficiency in corn.

C. C. Teague, member representing fruits and vegetables, said today he believed the low price of wheat as compared to corn would result in the feeding of enough of it to live stock to end the national wheat surplus emergency, the solution of which was one of the chief endeavors of congress during eight years work on farm relief legislation.

The corn yield, as now indicated, is below the feed requirements of the corn belt proper and leaves nothing for distribution to the 20 states which always buy corn.

Deficiency Figures. Compared with 1929 there is a deficiency of 96,000,000 bushels of corn in Iowa, 85,000,000 bushels in Illinois, 46,000,000 in Ohio, 44,000,000 in Missouri, 30,000,000 in Kansas, 25,000,000 in Indiana and 11,000,000 in Nebraska.

Of the feed crops, hay was second to corn as the chief drouth sufferer. The tame hay crop is 19,000,000 tons shorter than a year ago, Nebraska alone of the more important hay states showing an increase. There is an $28,000-ton reduction in wild hay, North Dakota showing the only noteworthy increase in harvest. Alfalfa hay is 2,000,000 tons short, Nebraska again showing the only increase in yield.

Oats was the spectacular crop of the year, the indicated production surpassing the 1929 yield by 17,000,000 bushels and the five-year average by $1,000,000. There were increased yields in all the big producing states except South Dakota and Nebraska.

Durum wheat was 2,000,000 bushels short of the 1929 harvest and 18,000,000 bushels short of the yearly average. Other spring wheat was 14,800,000 bushels larger than in 1929 but 24,000,000 bushels below the average.

Barley showed a gain of 19,000,000 bushels over the unusually large yield of 1929. Wisconsin, North Dakota, South Dakota and Nebraska accounting for 17,000,000 bushels of the increase.

North Dakota, largely substituting flax for wheat, hung up a record of 10,453,000 bushels of seed as compared with 6,876,000 last year.

More Decreases. Buckwheat production fell off 8,000,000 bushels, the two principal states, New York and New Jersey, sharing in the decrease.

The production of grain sorghums decreased 18,000,000 bushels, to which Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas contributed liberally.

Field beans declined 235,000 bushels, all bean states except Maine, Minnesota, Nebraska, Idaho, Colorado and California sharing the loss.

There is an indicated increase of 75,000 tons of beet sugar and a decrease of 14,000 tons of Louisiana cane sugar.

Better crops in Washington, Oregon, California, New York and Pennsylvania contributed largely to 1,775,000-bushel increase in the commercial apple crop. Virginia lost more than 1,000,000 bushels.

Burning the full range of upsets for a total increase of 2,000,000 bushels, the peach crop saw an increase of 15,000,000 bushels in California and a yield only 1 per cent of normal in Illinois. The crop there fell from 3,600,000 bushels in 1929 to 1,000 bushels. Arkansas produced 84,000 bushels as compared with 2,635,000 in 1929.

The pear crop is 3,000,000 bushels larger than last year and the grape crop 236,000 tons larger. Tobacco, 99,000,000 pounds short of the 1929 harvest, is 18,000,000 pounds larger than average. The peanut yield, about 92,000,000 pounds under a year ago, is about average. The potato crop is 20,000,000 bushels below last year and 53,000,000 bushels below average.

Alice In Golf-Land

"Oh, my poor reputation!" wailed the Queen of Hearts in Alice's ear, as the socially prominent King and Queen of Diamonds began boxing each other's ears in sheer boredom, and the Heart Queen's croquet party proceeded to be a dismal flop.

"Oh, my poor nose!" responded Alice indignantly, rubbing the offended member. She had just made a pass with her flamingo's head (which she was using as a mallet) at her hedgehog (substitute for a ball). Whereupon the flamingo twisted an offended beak around to Alice's face and tweaked her soundly.

"But no wonder," she remarked to the White Rabbit, as they pursued Alice's hedgehog, who had taken it into his head to un-ball himself and crawl away. "It would take nothing short of social genius to put over a stupid game like this. I wonder if something couldn't be done . . . Oh, of course! Could I use a telephone?"

Half an hour later a spruce-looking truck, emblazoned with Rich's star and crescent, drove up, and Alice was receiving from the driver a charming 9-hole miniature golf course set . . . which with the help of the guests was soon in operation.

"How can I ever thank you?" breathed the Queen of Hearts, as the King of Diamonds made his second hole-in-one, and the Queen of Diamonds applauded.

"Don't thank me," declined Alice. "Thank Rich's . . . And pay the bill. It's charged to your account."

Miss Scruggs Weds Dr. Clarke At Atlantic City Ceremony

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 11. The wedding of Miss Frances Scruggs and Dr. Maurice L. B. Clarke, of Atlanta, was solemnized at Atlantic City, N. J., Thursday, September 4, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The attractive reception room of the La Victoire on the boardwalk was reserved for the occasion and the ceremony, performed in the presence of the two immediate families, was characterized by charming simplicity. Dr. Ferdinand Becker, of Philadelphia, officiated.

The bride was lovely in a creation of orchid chiffon and chenille velvet and wore a large hat of novelty braid and silk violets. Her bouquet was of sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley, and she carried the prayer book used in the marriage of the groom's parents. The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Jerome Sommerfeld, of Atlantic City, and was attended by her sister, Mrs. Jerome Sommerfeld, as matron of honor. Mrs. Sommerfeld wore a model of burnt orange fishnet with a large hat of novelty braid in matching color. She also carried sweetheart roses. The groom was attended by his uncle, Le Roy Goldberg, of Richmond, Va., as best man, served the wedding party immediately following the ceremony and in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Sommerfeld were at home to the friends of the young couple. The bride chose for traveling an early fall costume of heavy crepe in black and white and during the evening the newlyweds left on an eastern tour and will be at home after September 15 in Atlanta, Georgia.

Mrs. Clarke, a 1930 graduate of the Piedmont hospital of Atlanta, is the daughter of the late Young B. Scruggs and Mrs. Scruggs, of Columbia, S. C. Columbia was the home of the bride for many years. Her lovely blonde beauty and charming personality have made for her many friends in South Carolina and Georgia, who will be pleased to receive this announcement. Dr. Clarke, son of the late Dr. Lee Ben Clarke and Mrs. Clarke, of Atlanta, is prominent in the Atlanta medical profession. He is a graduate of Emory University and a member of the Phi Epsilon Pi fraternity. The Askepios Society and the Standard Club of Atlanta. He is also prominent in Masonic circles, being a past master of Atlanta lodge No. 59, F. & A. M.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. L. B. Ben Clarke, the bride's mother of the groom; Mrs. Young B. Scruggs, of Columbia, mother of the bride; Miss Nelle Bradley, of Columbia; Mrs. Harry Goldberg, of New York city, and Mr. and Mrs. Le Roy Goldberg, of Richmond, Va.

BLACK DRAUGHT BROUGHT RELIEF

Saved Needless Suffering, Says Lady Who Used To Have Severe Headaches.

Columbia, S. C.—"I have taken Black Draught for thirty or more years and considered it a family medicine," writes Mrs. Lathen Senn, 215 Eighth Street, this city.

"I gave it to my children for colds and children's ailments. It is very helpful. I took it myself for constipation and indigestion."

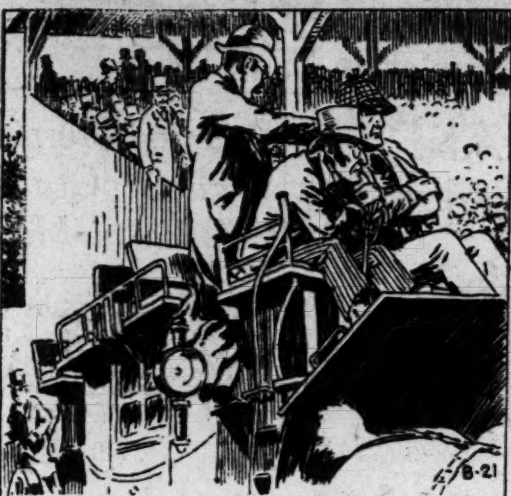

"I used to have very severe headaches that would leave me weak and trembling. I found that Black Draught relieves this, so I do not let myself get without it. Black Draught has saved me a lot of needless suffering. I am glad to recommend it to my friends and neighbors."

Thedford's Black Draught is a purely vegetable cathartic or laxative medicine, composed of selected medicinal herbs and roots. Black Draught is finely powdered, which enables the juices of the stomach to extract its medicinal properties in an easy, natural way.

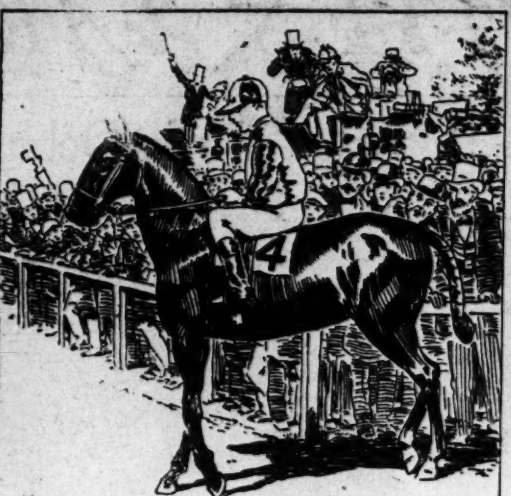

This medicine has been in use since 1833, with constantly increasing popularity because of the good it has done to the men, women and children who have taken it.

SHERLOCK HOLMES—"Silver Blaze"

Colonel Ross was excited and anxious, contrasting strongly with the imperturbable calm of Sherlock Holmes, as the moment for the great race approached.

Just as Colonel Ross spoke, a powerful bay emerged from the weighing enclosure, its jockey in the well-known Ross colors of black and red.

"Well, well, let us see how he gets on," said my friend calmly. For a few minutes he gazed through my field glasses. "An excellent start," he reported. "There they are, coming 'round the curve'."

As they came up the straight, the six horses were so close together a blanket would have covered them. Then the yellow of the Mapleton stables showed to the front as Desborough forged ahead. But his bolt was soon shot, and the Colonel's horse, coming away with a rush, passed the post to win by six lengths!

Colonel Ross Mystified.

She Was Fat And 40

THE OLD STORY A TRUE STORY

"What's the use of fibbing?" said Beatrice—"All you girls knew I was fat—Knew I was 40—But there were other things you didn't know."

Besides being fat, I was lazy—that's the exact word—No make believe in this true story—my blood was sluggish—my eyes were dull—Oh—how I did hate to get up in the morning. No ambition—No Energy—No Activity—didn't care about going anywhere or doing anything—I was just an all round flop—and worst of all my husband was growing indifferent—

Yes, You're right—I was fat on my fortieth birthday—besides all the other things I have told you about—just four months ago.

But look at me now—my medical friends say I've been revitalized—rejuvenated—invigorated and reshaped. Maybe he's right, but in my own language I'll tell the world that I have lost all of my fat and it's going to stay lost.

It was so strange and thrilling, continued Beatrice, that my emancipation (freedom from fat) as my husband calls it, started on my fortieth birthday.

It was this way—I was reading the evening paper and right before my eyes was an article headed "How one woman lost 47 pounds of fat in three months," and you can just bet I woke up and got interested right away.

And all this woman did to lose all that fat was to take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast and while doing this she cut out candy, sugar, pastries and fat meats.

That seemed easy to me—I was sold on Kruschen Salts and took my first dose the next morning—that was four months ago.

Well, as you can all see, my fat is gone—I've gained a shapely figure—bright eyes—clear skin—and tireless energy—and I never felt better in my life.

Yes! I'm joyfully happy—why wouldn't I be—was ever a woman so blessed—and here's something I am going to whisper to you—

I've regained his love. Kruschen Salts (It's the Little Daily Dose That Does It) brings activity to mind and body—its rejuvenating influence causes the stomach, liver and bowels to do their work naturally and faultlessly.

Kruschen is not just one salt, mind you, but a combination of the six vital minerals that Nature demands you must have to keep stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys in splendid working condition at all times.

Report of Child's Death In Wreck Erroneous

Report of the death of O'Neal Ginn, son of Mrs. Carrie Ginn, of West Helena, Ark., was erroneous. The youth was seriously injured in a triple automobile collision near here Sunday night and was carried to the Hamilton Memorial hospital in a serious condition.

However, he had recovered sufficiently to return to his home Wednesday.

Eight others injured in the collision had left the hospital Monday.

WAYCROSS, Ga., Sept. 11.—John L. Morgan, 50, was killed instantly while blowing stumps near Nabunah, east of here, late Wednesday. A fragment of wood struck Morgan under the chin, the terrific blow breaking his neck, according to information received here.

Morgan was employed by the Atlantic Coast Line railway, having been in railroad service for more than 25 years.

He is survived by his widow, three sons, T. J. Delto, and I. Morgan, and a daughter, Miss Rachel Morgan, all of Nabunah; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Morgan, of Nabunah; three brothers, Dann, Ebb and Frank Morgan, of Nabunah, and five sisters, Mrs. Noel Morgan, of Waycross; Mrs. Melton Morgan, of Nabunah; Mrs. Mack Williams, of Broadhurst; Mrs. Will Arnold, of Millwood, and Mrs. J. T. Jones, of Hickox.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at Lewis cemetery in Brantley county.

MACON, Ga., Sept. 11.—(AP)—A gold medal in recognition of her ten years of service, will be awarded to Mrs. Wilma E. Beggs, supervisor of the Macon playgrounds.

The medal will be presented during the National Congress of Playground Workers at Atlantic City in October. She has just completed her twelfth year as supervisor of the Macon playgrounds and since she did not attend the eleventh convention of the workers she did not receive the medal because rules provide that the recipient must receive it in person.

Eleven playgrounds are under the supervision of Mrs. Beggs with a daily average attendance of 900 children. There are eight playgrounds for white children and three for negroes.

KUNNES FRAUD CASE SET FOR THIS MONTH

Valdosta Merchant To Be Tried on Charge of Attempt To Defraud Creditors.

VALDOSTA, Ga., Sept. 11.—H. C. Eberhardt, an attorney of this city and trustee in the E. Kunnes bankruptcy case, is back from Columbus, where he went to testify in the criminal proceedings against Kunnes charged with diverting assets for the purpose of defrauding creditors.

Kunnes has been held under bond for several months. It is alleged that he shipped $8,000 worth of goods to a bonded warehouse in Augusta before becoming bankrupt. The goods were traced after a time and returned to this city. Kunnes is held in two cases, the aggregate bonds being about $12,000. Dave Minson, a former merchant who had previously gone through bankruptcy, is under bond in the federal court on a charge of assisting Kunnes in concealing and diverting his assets.

The cases against Kunnes and Minson are expected to be tried in the federal court which convenes in this city on the third Monday in this month. The trial promises to be one of the most interesting of the term and is the first of its kind brought in the United States court here.

VALDOSTA, Ga., Sept. 11.—(AP)—Reports that thousands of head of cattle are being sacrificed in drought stricken areas are overdrawn, W. E. French, general agricultural agent for the Georgia and Florida Railway here, declared on his return from a trip through West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee.

As an indication of the real situation, Mr. French said that during August of this year, fewer cattle were sold in stockyards of those sections than were sold in August, 1929. Hundreds of head of cattle are for sale but that has been the case for many years, he said, and live stock raisers are culling their herds closer this year than formerly.

Georgia farmers wishing to buy cattle from these areas would have to pay five to six and a half cents per pound for the stock, the agent said, adding that this was not a sacrifice price.

Farmers of this section should wait a while for developments. The price of cattle is unsteady and nothing should be done until some variation is made. In the meantime, the farmers should board their hay and corn and plant roughage crops for the winter.

ROBINS CUT LEAD OF CUBS TO HALF GAME

AUBURN

"Chet" Wynne, Using Rockne System, Grooming Promising Squad of Auburn Tigers; Football Hopes High This Season.

Editor's Note: This is one of a series of articles on football prospects at Southern Conference institutions written by Ed Danforth, sports editor of The Constitution, after viewing the squad in practice. Another follows tomorrow.

By Ed Danforth

On the grassy plateau that serves as a football field at Auburn is a brand new football team in the making. The football team is composed of Dunham (Red) Harkins, captain and center, and ten golden opportunities. One envies the lot of a football player at Auburn. Polytechnic Institute right now. Old things have passed away and a new regime bright with hope and full of enthusiasm has started. Any of them can win one of the ten varsity positions.

Captain Harkins, tall, earnest and capable, stands alone, sure of his position yet working like a stevedore in scrimmage. He alone of all the herd of football players inherited by "Chet" Wynne and his associate coaches from Notre Dame is a finished football man. The others are strong and willing. They have a lot to learn and are learning fast. One might say that Auburn's football team still is in the midst of spring training. They are learning things about football that might have been learned last spring had the young men from up north been there to teach them.

Consequently Auburn's football squad is behind its rivals in the conference in point of development as a team, yet it must be said that it has done more work than any others. A practice session at Auburn is like the feverish labor of men trying to stay a breaking levee. The other conference camps seem like leisurely gangs of peach pickers beside Auburn. The boys at Auburn are being crammed for their first exam, the game with Birmingham Southern at Montgomery September 26. The next big test comes October 4 with Spring Hill at Auburn. That game, you might say, is the final examination. For it is Coach Mike Donahue who is bringing his Spring Hill cadets to the village to play the team that is using dancing, shifting steps so foreign to Auburn. And Mike is not coming to Auburn for the trip. He has been to Auburn before. He stayed there nearly 20 years and left, some say, because he did not believe in throwing forward passes every whip stitch.

First Two Games Constitute Tests

Those first two games constitute the trials by water and by fire of the young coaches from Notre Dame. If they can get the team to pass those tests, they can relax and start building for next year. They can send the team heads-up into games with Florida, Tech and Georgia and let the boys learn things like how to prevent runaway scores of 50 to 0.

By the end of those next three games, the Plainsmen should be ready to do a little traveling on their own hook against Wofford, Tulane, Mississippi Aggies and South Carolina.

Chet Wynne is the head coach. He was a great back for Knute Rockne in his day. He has been coaching at Creighton and is outlining the intensive work with a firm hand. He came down late last spring for a week of work and could accomplish very little in way of grounding fundamentals. About all the new head coach learned was how hot it could get in Auburn and how much the boys had to learn.

Capable Assistants Aid Wynne

His assistants now are Roger Kiley, a great end under Rockne and a rare teacher, it seems; Jack Cannon who was an all-American guard last year on the South Bend aggregation; Earl McFadden and Weems Baskin who survive from the previous football administration. Kiley is handling the varsity line and Cannon divides his time between freshmen and varsity. As indicated the first objective is the first two games; the second is next season.

As much of the Notre Dame system of play as the boys can absorb is being taught them, possibly more. But how those big Auburn lads are working. They are taking a lot of physical punishment these days and laughing over it.

Aside from the center position in which Captain Harkins is fitting himself, no other places have been settled upon. The coaches are sifting their material vigorously in effort to settle upon a tentative varsity combination by the third week. It is a pretty safe guess that many sophomores will make the varsity.

Tackles and Guards Battle for Places

Lee Johnson, a sophomore, weighing only 170 pounds, looks like a probable replacement for Captain Harkins at center. Carl Schlitz, 195, and J. D. Bush, 175, are letter guards but Donald Jones and Commodore Wood, two fast sophomores, are pushing them for preference. Guards must come out of the line snappily in the Rockne system.

A free-for-all battle is in progress for the tackle with Erik Pryor and Jack Holdcroft, letter men, and L. T. Wagner, red in three battles.

Lewis McRee and George Egg are letter ends who are competing with Porter Grant, Sam Mason, Carey Senn and Clyde Childers, sophomores, for positions. Frankly the coaches as yet could not pick a varsity line if they tried.

Leading Quarterback Hopes

Matty Davidson, a letter man, and H. Parker, sophomores, are leading quarterback hopes. Lindsey Hatfield is the lone letter halfback. Kenneth Phillips, Will Beckett, Jimmy Hitchcock, and Leo Young are a few of the others who are hustling with him. Tom Brown, a sophomore, and "Slob" Campbell, a letter man, are leading fullback candidates.

These names do not form a complete list. Every man of the big squad is being given a chance to show something. They are in excellent physical shape and stack up heavy enough to hold their own in any company. They have plenty to learn about the unfamiliar Notre Dame gyrations and they may get terribly mixed up at times, but for spirit they can't be beat. They are working with all that traditional Auburn spirit, except that instead of emotional tears they are shedding gallons of perspiration for the old school. Perspiration, they say, goes much farther.

Tilden's Antics Rouse Committee to Wrath

Default Threatened, Bill Takes Court Hour Late—Meets John Doe Today.

By Paul W. White,

United News Sports Correspondent.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 11.—Big Bill Tilden advanced to the semi-finals of the men's national singles tennis championship today, but before he got there he very nearly left the tournament by the default route.

As it was the committee gave him more courtesy than it would show to the common, or artichoke variety of tennis player. For more than an hour he held up the works before officials became sufficiently hard-boiled to make him play or default his quarter-finals match to John W. Van Ryn, of East Orange, N. J.

Tilden and Van Ryn were scheduled to play at 2:30 p. m., an hour after the encounter between Francis F. Hunter, New Rochelle, N. Y., and Johnny Doe, of Santa Monica, Cal., got under way.

The first set was a new form of endurance contest that finally went to Hunter, 13-11. During the playing of it Tilden was seen indulging in coaching his friend

Hunter. An official called him off gently and the champion didn't like it.

Then Tilden sponsored the proposition that he and Van Ryn wait until the other match was completed. In this way, he argued, his friend would be enabled to concentrate better than

FARRELL, SMITH MEET REVERSES IN P. G. A. MEET

Kirkwood, Sarazen, Armour and Lacy Still in Running.

FLUSHING, N. Y., Sept. 11.—(UN)—A real estate battle cost Johnny Farrell, former national open champion, his chance in the P. G. A. tournament here today, the Mammoth, N. Y. Two losing to Tony Armour, nervy Detroit. The score was 2 to 1.

Farrell, in the morning 18 of their third round 36-hole contest, led Armour by four holes. The sixth hole was played. Armour then settled down and won or halved every hole from the 6th through 18th. Some of Armour's wins were obtained when Farrell missed short putts. Johnny failed to sink three four-footers.

Two down when the afternoon round began, Farrell squared the match on the short 14th when Armour required two shots to reach the green. Armour won the 15th when Johnny found sand in approaching, and also won the 16th when Farrell was an inch short with a four-foot putt.

Farrell had been favored to win and when he made his sprint in the early play his victory was conceded. "I couldn't stand prosperity," he told Armour in congratulating him.

HORTON SMITH LOSES.

Another favored player was eliminated when Horton Smith, of Cragtown, N. Y., bowed to Joe Kirkwood, trick shot artist playing unattached. The score was one up. Their match was the only one decided on the home green.

Kirkwood squared the match by winning the 35th hole on which Smith drove out of bounds. Kirkwood also won the 36th. Smith was trapped in approaching the home green and took a five, one over par.

Charles Lacey, Pine Valley, N. J., eliminated Harold Sampson, Burlington, Calif., 4 and 3. It was Sampson who yesterday ousted Leo Diegel, defending champion.

GENE SARAZEN WINS.

Gene Sarazen, Flushing, playing on his home course, the Essex Mountain layout, defeated Al Espinosa, Chicago, 2 and 1.

Their match ended when Espinosa went into a hole in the approach at the 35th green after having had a wild tee shot. Lacey will meet Armour and Kirkwood will meet Sarazen in tomorrow's semi-final round.

Billy Petrolle Beats Canzoneri

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—(P)—Billy Petrolle, the old "Fargo Express," ripped off a gripping win in the light-weight championship situation tonight by defeating Tony Canzoneri, of New York, challenger for the title, in a 10-round battle in the Chicago stadium. The battle was fought as a benefit for Patricia Harmon, the 3-year-old daughter of the late builder of the $7,000,000 stadium, Eddy Harmon, who was penniless at the time of his tragic death. The contest drew approximately $40,000, with a profit of $10,000 going into a trust fund for the little girl.

Chicagoans did not give full support to the testimonial, as the attendance was only 13,200, a trifle more than half the seating capacity of the huge arena. Harmon, year after year, was the only Santa Claus thought of by poor West Side children, and the galleries tonight were packed by those youngsters now grown into manhood.

Petrolle climaxed his sensational comeback to ring warfare by decisively defeating his New York rival in six of the 10 rounds. He everlastingly tore into Canzoneri, ripping left hooks to the body and right hands to the head, and had him pretty well damaged at the end of the engagement. Canzoneri was bleeding from an inch-long gash over his right eye and from the nose and mouth.

Canzoneri shook Petrolle up in the second round when he cracked him in the head with a right hand that knocked him into the ropes, but after that Petrolle steadily forged ahead, banging away with both fists, meanwhile protecting himself cleverly, with a weaving, bobbing style of boxing. Petrolle weighed 134 3/4 and Canzoneri 132 1/2.

Cleveland Recalls Five Pel Players

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 11.—(P)—The Cleveland Indians have recalled George Detore, third baseman; Carl Lind, shortstop; Henry Bonura, first baseman; Mike Powers, outfielder, and Lefty Barnhart, pitcher, from the New Orleans club.

Barnhart will leave Friday morning to join the tribe, while the others will leave for Cleveland immediately after the close of the Southern association season Sunday.

Under the rules players to be eligible must have played with the contending teams at least 30 days unless exceptions are agreed to. Exceptions made for the forthcoming season will permit Stanley Benton, who joined the Memphis club August 31, and Paul Gribble, who has been with the Fort Worth club about three weeks, to play in the series. Benton is a shortstop and was acquired from Milwaukee of the American association. Gribble is listed as a pitcher but also plays in the outfield and first base.

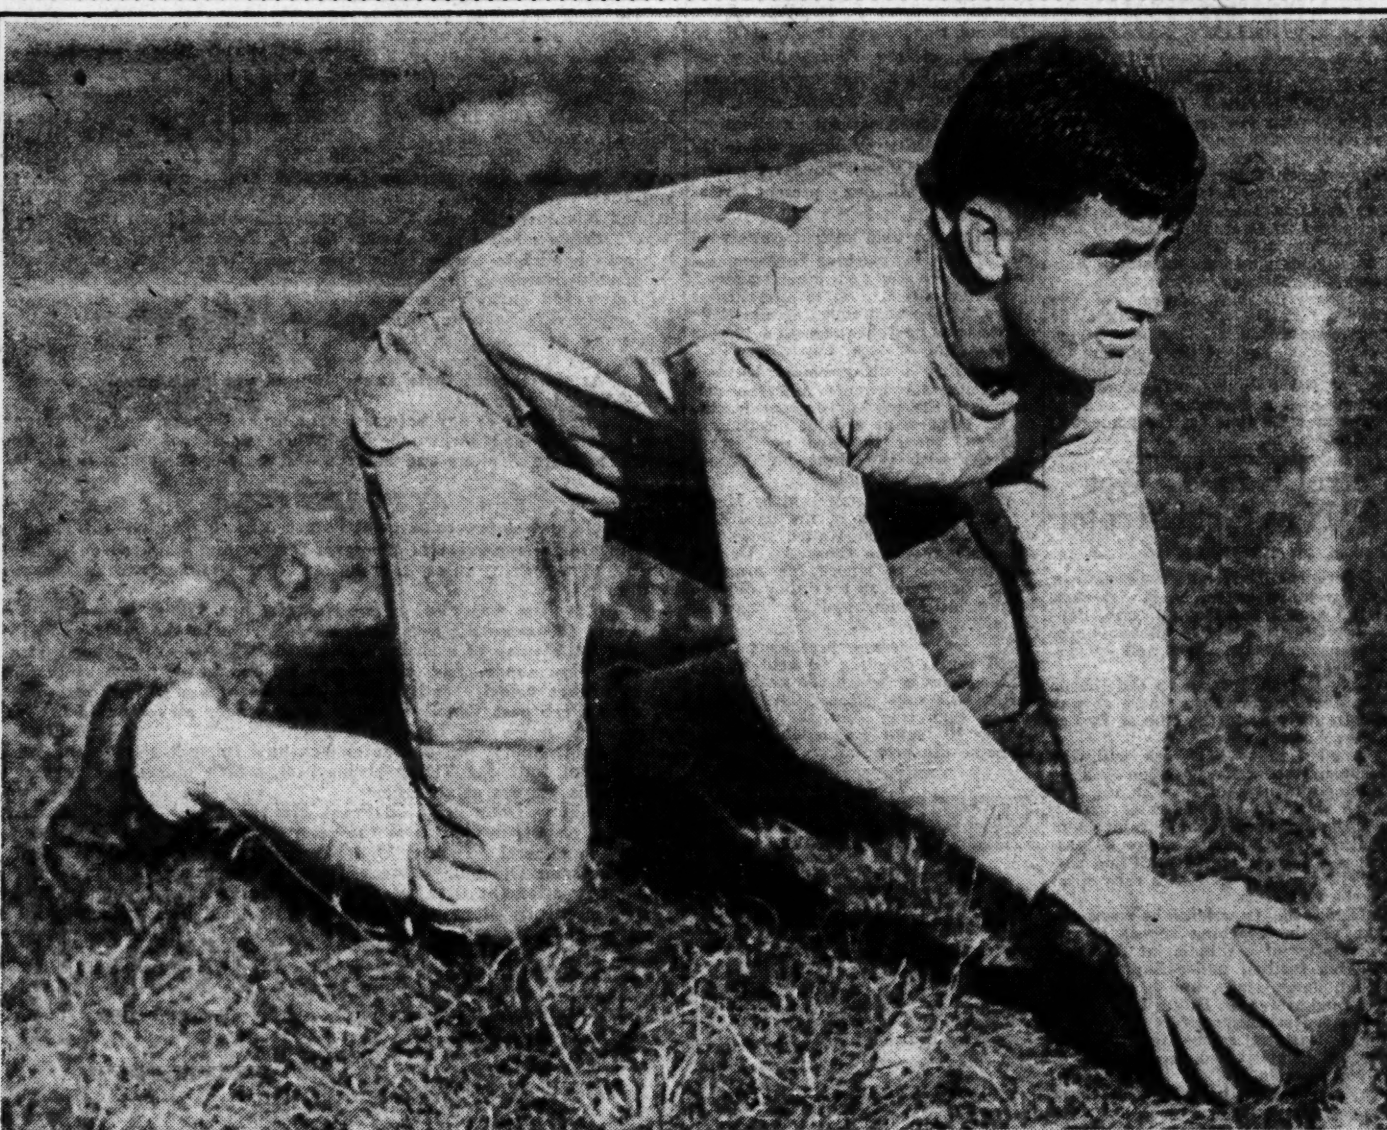

Games played in Texas will start at 3:30 p. m., and in Memphis at 3 o'clock. Naylor Stone was named official scorer at Memphis.

Hack Hits Homer, 3 Up on the Babe

BROOKLYN, Sept. 11.—(P)—Hack Wilson, stocky Cub outfielder, hit his 40th home run in the season today in the seventh inning of the Brooklyn-Chicago game. Vance was on the mound at the time for the Robins, the circuit drive cutting Brooklyn's lead 2 to 1. The homer placed Wilson three runs in front of Babe Ruth.

He'll Lead Ten Golden Opportunities

Auburn, says Danforth, has Harkins and "ten golden opportunities." Harkins was one of the best centers in the conference last fall and was prominently mentioned for all-southern honors.

PLANS ARE SET FOR DIXIE SERIES

Play Will Start Wednesday—Texas Play To Decide Opening City.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 11.—(P)—The 1930 Dixie series to decide the class A baseball championship of the South between the pennant winners of the Southern association and Texas league will start next Wednesday, September 17, with the opening game to be played in Wichita Falls, Tex.

The battle was fought as a benefit for Patricia Harmon, the 3-year-old daughter of the late builder of the $7,000,000 stadium, Eddy Harmon, who was penniless at the time of his tragic death. Crowned Heads Uneasy At Georgia and Vandy

Pre-Season Publicity Likely to Hurt Chances of Mehre and McGugin Squads.

By Ralph McGill.

When the late Bard of Avon wrote something about the head which wears a crown tossing restlessly on its pillow, he hadn't plumbed the depths of misery which a crown may cause.

There are, for instance, these pre-season football crowns which the boys keep awarding. The noggin that wears one of those is very uneasy indeed.

Over Athens was Harry Mehre's pre-season crown is wearing calouses on the thinker of the Georgia coach. And up at Nashville, Tenn., your Uncle Dan McGugin's sparse hirsute adornment is growing less and less. If Harry Mehre and your Uncle Daniel don't get rid of those crowns, they are going to be in the market for a toupee before the season is done.

Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown—yes, verily, brother. Very uneasy, indeed.

One reads that all is not well in the camps of the two favored football teams. The newspapers have got the boys believing in their destiny and that sort of thing. And when one of these sophomores learns to read the paper it requires about two Saturdays of being pushed rudely on the back of the head to get what the papers have said.

Mr. Harry Mehre, nonchalantly tipping the brim of his football crown over his left eye, is busy shifting one of his prize guards, Red Maddox, to center. Mr. Mehre nonchalantly announces that he has three guards any how, and can well spare Red Maddox for center.

HEAVY, HEAVY HANGS—At Nashville Your Uncle Daniel has his crown pushed back off his head by a heavy hand. Your Uncle Daniel has discovered that he hasn't a real passer on the squad, and that furthermore his punting is sort of sour.

Now Mr. Harry Mehre would not be shifting one of the best guards in the conference to center if he had not decided that there was a weakness at the pivot post. Coaches appear nonchalant about these swaps but when they take a regular who is a star and put him somewhere else one may know that all is not well along the Potomac.

Of course the gentleman at Athens announced before the season started that he was worried about center and about his tackles.

And Your Uncle Daniel announced that he would have to use five or six sophomores, who are usually very dumb here pre-season crowns can get. Your Uncle Daniel was wearing gilded crowns on their domes and the experts were trying to pick who would finish third or fourth.

Prospects at Georgia and Vanderbilt are excellent, but not so excellent as the experts would have one believe. No team with six sophomores on it will win a title, and Georgia's record in 1929, while most excellent, does

CRACKERS BEAT VOLUNTEERS, 9-7

Dobbsmen Win in Eighth After Vols Tie Score at Seven-All.

By Ralph McGill.

Two customers in the bleachers stretched out on the planks and slept through seven innings of baseball at Spiller field Thursday afternoon, a rally in the eighth awakening them.

The rally was staged by the Vols who tied the score at seven-all only to see the Crackers step on the gas in their half of the eighth to score two runs which won the ball game, 9 to 7.

The boys who slept didn't seem anything. Neither club seemed to be greatly exercised. The Crackers, with Joe Kinser pitching, had a lead all the way in the early innings.

Old Zum, Zum Zumbro, the old bass violin himself, was knocked out of the box by a five-run rally in the third. He hit with any ball, seemed too groggy to continue.

The eighth inning saw Ray Francis sponged from the lineup. The Vols, who can hit with any ball, seemed to wake up. Even the gentlemen in the bleachers sat up and began looking at the game.

Joe Kinser followed Francis in and his relief work was excellent. He was the ultimate winner of the ball game.

FRESHMEN HOLD VARSITY SQUAD WELL IN CHECK

First Year Men Smear Plays and Upset Big Boys in General.

By Jack Troy.

Captain Claude Herrin suffered a severe nose injury in Thursday's scrimmage of the Oglethorpe football team and likely will watch his teammates perform from the sidelines for the next few days.

Herrin was speeding away on a sweeping end run when Rogers, freshman quarterback, tackled him sharply. Herrin's head came down and his nose struck the ground. An examination revealed that the member was not broken.

Thursday was one of those days on which the varsity squad couldn't get going in spite of all Coach Harry Robertson could do. The varsity backfield wasn't functioning properly. Coach Robertson called for the reserve backs. The varsity line, too, failed to display its characteristic power and reinforcements didn't help.

HELD IN CHECK.

Twice the Petrels marched down the field to within a few yards of the freshman goal line and twice Coach Hoke Bell's battery's power effort of the big Gold and Black eleven to gain the remaining distance.

Finally, a bullet-like pass shot forward by Frank Anderson, Jr., found a mark in the arms of the speedy Sam Baker and Sam dodged and twisted his way through the field to score the Petrels' first touchdown.

They lined up again and the battle was resumed. Backs by Dapper Myers and off-tackle smashes by Baker and Anderson worked the ball down the field and Baker made the final touchdown on one of his characteristic dodging, twisting, side-stepping end runs.

ROOKIES SHINE.

Several members of the freshman line rose to the heights of the scrimmage. They were Tom Johnson and Bo Johnson, ends; Pounding Pickard and Slim Rogers, tackles; Don Aderhold, guard, and Rudy Shouse, center. They smothered the varsity's power plays and often tackled the backs behind the line of scrimmage.

A long session in passing and pass defense for the varsity's power practice of the shift for the linemen preceded the scrimmage.

CROWNED HEADS OF GRID UNEASY

not foretell a clean sweep in 1936. While Mehre works with his center job and his tackle problem, Your Uncle Daniel is going about looking for a passer.

None of the experts to date have found out much about those factors up at Nashville, Tenn.-O-Sec. Benny Parker was the pitcher last season. Berry Parker pitched fly balls down the field and beat Alabama and Tech. But the fly ball forward pass won't be any good this season. It wasn't, truth to tell, very good last fall, in spite of its success. It was just one of McGugin's tricks that worked.

LEONARD TRIED.

They worked all spring with Amos (Mouse) Leonard in an effort to teach him to pass that football. He learned a bit about it, but he didn't develop into the forward passer they were looking for.

Bill Schwartz, the end who went back and punted last season, was a bit slow on his punts and his distance was just average. The punting, however, isn't the problem that the pass attack is.

There is just one happy prospect for the two kings, Mr. Mehre and Mr. McGugin. The former would like to beat Yale again. What coach wouldn't? The latter coach would

Rube Bressler Out For Rest of Drive

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—(UN)—Rube Bressler, veteran outfielder of the Brooklyn Robins, will be out for the rest of the season with a broken finger, it was learned today.

A line drive from Hack Wilson's bat in Wednesday's game with the Chicago Cubs broke the middle finger of Bressler's throwing hand in two places. Manager Wilbert Robinson announced he would alternate Harvey Hendrick and Ike Boone in left field.

Bressler was batting .299.

SALLY SERIES RESUMED TODAY

MACON, Ga., Sept. 11.—(P)—The Greenville Spinners and Macon Peaches, with the series standing at one victory and one defeat for each team, will resume play in the Sally league pennant play-off tomorrow at Luther Williams field. It will be the first game in Macon, the teams having played in Greenville Tuesday and Wednesday and rested today.

The teams play here tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday. Manager Charles Moore, of the Peaches, tonight announced that he would start Buck Greene, young right-hander, against the Spinners tomorrow night in Greenville Tuesday and Wednesday, also a right-hander.

The starting time for the game will be 7:30 p. m.

Petrel Rats To Get New Grid Mentor

Oglethorpe University will have a new freshman coach, D. H. Overton, at the opening of the fall term, September 24, according to an announcement made by Dr. Thornwell Jacobs, president.

Mr. Overton comes to Oglethorpe from Jacksonville, Fla., where he was athletic director in the Robert E. Lee High school.

In addition to his work with the freshman team, Mr. Overton will be director of intramural athletics, in which work he has had wide experience, having spent two years at Monmouth college, Illinois, where he participated in football, baseball and basketball, receiving letters in each sport for the two years.

Besides this experience he spent one year at the coaching school of the University of Illinois at Urbana, studying football under Zupke, basketball under Rudy, and baseball under Lindgren and Hoff. To this he has added several seasons of summer school work. Previous to this, Mr. Overton spent six summers as director of playgrounds at Oshkosh, Wis., and two summers as basketball coach at Camp Carolina, Brevard, N. C.

It is a requirement of Oglethorpe University that each student shall participate in some form of intramural athletics, all branches of which will be under the directorship of Mr. Overton.

take a delight in administering another beating to Minnesota. If they don't; if Yale should beat Georgia and Minnesota should trim the Commodores, the two coaches will be able to get the boys out of the idea that they, too, are wearing crowns.

QUOTH MR. MEHRE. Harry Mehre can say to some boy who has been reading the papers, "Do you remember how that Yale tackle sat you back on your ears?" And your Uncle Daniel can ask, "Now, when that big Minnesota end smeared you, what did you do wrong?"

This will have what the boys call a salutary effect and will do much toward getting the boys out of the habit of reading what great football players they are. And if there be any among you doing any research work on just how uneasy a noggin does lie that wears a crown, why drop over to Athens or up to Nashville.

MAJOR LEAGUES SEEKING TO END MINOR TROUBLE

Meeting Proposed to Bring About Change in Present Conditions.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—(UN)—The National and American league today held out an olive branch to the three Class AA leagues to whom they issued an ultimatum recently, threatening a complete break over the disputed draft question on December 1.

President John A. Heydler, of the National league, and President E. S. Barnard, of the American, wrote jointly to the 24 club owners of the International and Pacific coast circuits and the American association, proposing a meeting during the forthcoming world series "to avert a certain rupture in our present relations."

"Failure to hold such a conference would have far-reaching consequences to both the major and minor leagues," the letter stated. "It is our earnest desire to avoid an open break. We are addressing this suggestion to you as a matter of vital importance."

Following a disagreement between the Class AA leagues and the major leagues at a joint meeting at Chicago, voted to have no further dealings with the three big minor circuits after December 1.

While the letter now sent by Heydler and Barnard is in the nature of an olive branch, the United States understands that the Class AA leagues are prepared to ignore the proposal for a conference just as they did the recent ultimatum, and to "go it alone" if necessary.

The major league presidents proposed that a meeting be held in one of the cities in which the next world series will take place. Their letter stated that they had the authority of the 16 major league club owners to make the proposal.

SMITHY CAMP SEEKS PUNTER

Wanted—One high school punter. Those words were circulated through the student body at Tech High school Thursday by Coach Claude Tolbert of the football team. Several youngsters have been taking turns at kicking, but no satisfactory punter has been found in the squad at present.

The Smithy coach is more than pleased with his line material as every player from the 1929 forward wall returned to school. The line from tackle to tackle should average around 180 pounds with the ends a few pounds lighter. The backfield will have the speed, but not the power of former Tech High backfields.

A dependable forward passer and a punter is Tolbert's chief worry at present, and unless he finds one before September 26 Tech High will overwork a dependable forward passer.

Boys' High candidates, after a week of preliminary practice, are progressing rapidly. Several scrimmages have been held this week and another is on the program for today.

G. M. A. coaches were pleased to greet a squad of more than 45 candidates after the opening of school Wednesday. The new recruits were added to the varsity and scrubs who worked one week in the mountains of North Carolina.

Reports from other prep camps indicate another successful season with plenty of candidates out at each school. This week's activities will end with light scrimmages and dummy practice this afternoon.

JIM McLARNIN KAYOES SINGER

somewhere near his weight. For two rounds Jimmy was outboxed, outsmarted and even outgassed, and $175,000 worth of cash customers belated in glee at the sight.

ROUND ONE.

Singer rushed in close as McLarnin missed a left hook and they clawed to the body, sparring carefully. Singer found an opening for a hard uppercut but took a sharp left to the chin. McLarnin missed a hard right to the jaw by just a whisker and Singer sailed into him with both fists flying furiously. He smashed a half-dozen lefts and rights into the Irishman's jaw and Jimmy was hurt. McLarnin held for a few seconds and then clipped Singer with a fierce left hook on the chin. Al fought back and they swapped solid clouts to the head in mid-ring. McLarnin belted him with a left hook to the body and other to the chin that brought Singer to a halt. Al poked out his left and rammed a beautiful right into McLarnin's head as they slammed and shook under mighty punches. The crowd roared gleefully. The bell found them in a furious exchange on the ropes.

ROUND TWO.

Both were boxed cautiously until McLarnin forced an opening for a left hook to the head. Singer ripped in a short right to the chin and made McLarnin miss two full shots. Both thudded home left hooks to the head in a wild exchange that set the crowd roaring. Singer slipped in a straight right to the temple and danced away from Jimmy's counter. Al outboxed the cagey welterweight, stabbing him in the eyes with three long lefts. A left seemed to keep McLarnin off balance and he was slow and wild with his counters. Gaining confidence, Al swapped punches freely and they slugged their way along the ropes. Singer was boxing beautifully, fighting in spurts that drew the cheers of the crowd. He shot McLarnin's head back with a left at the bell.

ROUND THREE.

They posed in mid-ring, both very respectful of each other's punching powers. Singer flashed home a hard right to the head but Jimmy ducked in close and mauled his body. A left hook to the head shook Singer but he jabbed McLarnin out of his advantage and fell in a clinch. Singer drove a left hook deep into McLarnin's body but ran into Jimmy's left hook and reeled back. Singer went down under a right to the chin but came up at nine. McLarnin smashed him to the floor again for a count of 10 and a knockout.

SPORTS SPOTLIGHT

FOREST HILLS, L. I., Sept. 11.—Has anybody an extra motorcycle and a spare airplane? There was practically nothing to do today but cover the P. G. A. matches at Fresh Meadows, cut back into Forest Hills for the tennis and then hit the high road for the Singer-McLarnin party a trifle later on.

AT FRESH MEADOWS.

THERE were four great matches here and most of them had their share of thrills. The first match, caught was the duel between Tommy Armour, the brilliant Scot, and Johnny Farrell, the pride of Quaker Ridge.

Armour broke all records by missing a few iron shots at the start, something he rarely does, and found himself 4-2 down at the sixth hole. But from that point on Tommy caught himself and in spite of a keen, high wind began to tap out one par after another. He kept his long tee shots squarely down the middle, where Johnny was finding trouble off the course, and when they paid off Armour was in front by 2 and 1. He picked up 6 of the last 12 holes of the forenoon round and this did the trick.

One of the big surprises of the day came when Joe Kirkwood ousted Horton Smith. But in a way it was no surprise to those who know how well Kirkwood can handle the roistering winds with a low trajectory when needed. Horton handed him a 72 in the forenoon and then was only 1 up with the Australian trick shot expert hanging on with teeth and toes. As the wind grew heavier Kirkwood got better and finally handed Missouri's favorite son the cup of hemlock down the stretch.

Sarazen had a rugged duel with Al Espinosa, but finally came from behind to win at Charley Lacey, after a spotty start, beat Harold Sampson, the California conqueror of Leo Diegel. Lacey had entirely too much length for the slender westerner. He was out-driving Sampson from 60 to 70 yards on many holes and this was more of a handicap than even the accurate Sampson could gulp down.

At the seventh hole Lacey rapped one that traveled around 300 yards uphill.

The battle on Friday between Armour and Lacey, and the scrap between Sarazen and Kirkwood should bring out two other hard fought matches where Armour and Sarazen will bear watching.

AT FOREST HILLS.

IT TOOK only a few minutes at Forest Hills to see that Bill Tilden was still around the crest of the form that brought him seven championships and will bring in another unless some younger star can reach for a miracle.

Van Ryn was playing good tennis, but Tilden looked to be about the same. Bill met Johnston in the old days with the full display of a champion. Tilden still has everything that a champion needs. His service ace flashed by with the same old rifle shot velocity and control. On more than a few occasions they were past Van Ryn before the younger player could bat an eyelash, much less bat the ball.

The big gallery, full of pep and enthusiasm, got a large and healthy kick out of watching Tilden at his best, which means one of the best tennis players of all time.

Johnny Doeg removed Frank Hunter after a hard fight. But the big spot, as usual, was the veteran champion working his way in the general direction of a new record and his eighth crown.

"The same Old Bill," remarked Vic Richards as Tilden's game got under way after the first set with almost every variety of stroke under perfect control. Here was the artist using a tennis racket as a paint brush upon the green canvas of the court.

All in all, it is worth a day of high speed travel to see a Tommy Armour handle an iron and a Bill Tilden manipulate a tennis racket.

ANYWAY, the Cubs finally scored a run. That shows that life is not quite extinct and they must still be breathing.

A SONG FOR THE FORWARDS.

You can have your ends that are slim and brave.
And your backs that are hard and fleet;
But give me the guards and tackles who pave
The way for your hero's feet.

They don't rate much on the stands' applause,
But they're in there, yard by yard;
And you say, my son, there's no Santa Claus?
Well, take a look at a guard.

You can have your heroes and shout their praise
Go hire a flock of birds
To do it for you, but I'll still raise
A voice for the tackles and guards.

A GREAT TEAM.

WHETHER or not Tommy Hitchcock led the greatest polo team of history into action through that last international game might lead to more than one argument—but it will do well enough until a better one comes along.

It might be suggested that there were certain defensive flaws, but no team that concentrates on attack can get away from a few defects along defensive lines.

It is certain enough that few No. 1's have come up to the Peleay standard as a goal shooter and a scorer, for this brilliant Californian on that last day could hit you in the eye at 40 yards, back-handed or what not.

The British, somewhat outclassed in two positions, put up a far stouter resistance than they have shown for some time and there is no polo field that carries two abler stars than Roark and Lacey.

Two more like this pair and they would be playing yet.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON still hopes to get even for what happened at S-Meadowbrook, but he is just as glad that Peleay, Hitchcock, Bobby Jones and Tilden are all landmen and not given to roving the high seas.

GRID OUTLOOK PROMISING IN GENERAL CAMP

Seasoned Squad Quick To Learn Rockne System From Oberst.

By William Ewing.

Associated Press Sports Writer.

LEXINGTON, Va., Sept. 11.—(AP) At Washington and Lee University they are talking of a football team that will rank with the teams of years gone by, and the Generals have no mean gridiron record.

Labor Day, hot and dusty, found the 44 who were called at hand, almost to a man, and among them 14 veterans who alone make up a capable football team. Coach Gene Oberst, having spent last fall and spring explaining the system he learned from Rockne, was able to start at once on formations and drills.

OUTFIT IN TRIM.

Behind the 44 are toughened reserves and smart freshmen who, although lacking seasoning, compose some of the squad's best material. Long spring training and hard summer work kept the outfit in trim.

With them Oberst faces a schedule which is not a cinch either way, but carries, consistently capable opposition.

Leading the Generals' backfield is a little sprinter named Mattox—wiry, shifty and fast—one of the smartest ball carriers seen at Washington and Lee in years. He can toss a football, too, and kick if called upon.

Gene Martin and Thibodeau are halfbacks who returned from last year, both big fellows and fast. The last of a seasoned quartet is 200-pound Pat Mitchell, a line plunger who can run the ends.

VETERAN ENDS.

For the wings the Generals have a trio of veterans. Captain Faye Biessee, Leigh Williams and Charley Day. Williams as a pass receiver is one of the squad's main offensive threats. He stands 6 feet 3 and is swift on his feet.

Last year's regulars produced tackles in Faulkner, who has also played backfield; Bailey and Tison. Bailey is an excellent kicker. Harris and Bob Martin are veteran guards and Holstein and Group are seasoned center material.

The W. and L. schedule starts early, on September 20, and lists 10 games, in which Florida and Tennessee, opponents last year, do not appear. Beginning with Randolph Macon, the Generals play Hampden-Sydney, Richmond, West Virginia, Kentucky, St. Johns, V. P. I., Maryland, Virginia and Duke, with a two-week rest between the last two games.

Jockey Equals Winning Records

MARLBORO, Md., Sept. 11.—(AP)—Winning six races here today on a seven-race program, Albert Adams, who celebrated his 17th birthday just a month ago, equaled two world jockey records. He had no mount in the fourth race.

He became the third rider to win eight consecutive purses and has an opportunity tomorrow to break the record.

Adams started on his riding spree in the last two races yesterday.

PANTHERS EVEN TEXAS SERIES

WICHITA FALLS, Texas, Sept. 11.—(UN)—The Fort Worth Cats scored six runs with rallies in the seventh and eighth innings to defeat Wichita Falls, 10 to 5, today in the second game of the Texas league championship series.

Both teams now have won one game. Wichita Falls won the first half pennant, Fort Worth the second. The winner must take three out of five games to represent the Texas league in a play-off with the champion of the Southern association.

Lil Stoner, Fort Worth right-hander, allowed the Spudders ten hits but kept them well scattered. Fort Worth: 103 runs, 30-10 15 2. Wichita Falls: 110 runs, 30-10 15 2. Score by O'Connell: Stengrafe, Koob and Crouch.

Lil Stoner, Mallon Sold to Phillies.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 11.—(AP)—The purchase of Pitcher Lil Stoner and Second Baseman Leo Mallon from the Fort Worth club, of the Texas league, was announced tonight by the management of the Philadelphia Nationals.

The purchase price was given as $25,000 cash. Stoner, 24, is a right-hander who will report at the opening of the training season next year. Stoner was in the majors before, having formerly played with the Detroit Americans and the Pittsburgh Nationals. He led the Texas league pitchers this season with 14 victories and 5 defeats. He is 29 years old. Mallon is 24. In 146 games this year his batting average is .332 and fielding .966.

Outboard Race Is Ordered Run Over

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Because Arthur Reinking, Butler University student, was found to have used a non-stock motor in winning the Commodore Eugene McDonald trophy race for outboard motor boats, September 7, officials of the National Outboard Association have ordered the race rerun.

JONES ALL SET FOR GREAT SHOT MONDAY NIGHT

Texan Confident He'll Be Champion of World Some Day.

Jim London, the world's champion wrestler, meets a man who thinks he will some day be champion here Monday night in the last outdoor match of the season at Spiller field.

Paul Jones, the leaping Texan, is not yet convinced that he won't be a champion some day. He is on the sunny side of thirty. He is right at the top of his game. He is rated as one of the five or six toughest men in the game.

When he meets Jim London, the recently-crowned champion Monday night, Paul Jones will be "shooting the works." London will be favored to win. He is the champion. He is vastly underrated. Because he does not indulge in a lot of unnecessary work in the ring the fans boo him. They think when he trots about the ring that he is running away instead of unbalancing his opponent. He will be a tough one to meet. It takes a tough one to meet Jones when he is shooting the works. And the Texan will be.

The hook scissors hold, which Jones specializes in, affects the solar plexus, according to a physician who has watched the hold.

The legs apply the greatest force at the solar plexus region. The scissors hold simply tears down resistance and strength.

London's toe hold can break a leg. They are the two leading holds. Mixed in with them are all the other holds of the game. These two men know them.

The semi-windup includes Bill Bartush, the great little youngster who beat Milo Steinborn here, and Charley Fox, the hard-boiled egg from Cleveland.

This match is a real headliner despite its position on the bill as a semi-windup. Bartush is a real attraction and Fox is well known here.

Tickets are going at a great rate. They are on sale at the Piedmont Hatters and at the Candler building soda fountain. Ladies are admitted to any seat for one dollar.

Lung Congestion Besets Famed Mare

The mare, owned by Mrs. W. P. Roth, Redwood City, Cal., is not expected to be able to take part in the $10,000 grand champion saddle stakes Saturday night for which her showing in the mare's division made her eligible.

Bulldogs Hold First Scrimmage Today; Jackets Delay Skirmish

MEHRE TO PICK VARSITY SQUAD AFTER SESSION

Punting Given Much Attention as Coaches Prepare for Battle.

By Al Smith.

ATHENS, Ga., Sept. 11.—The Georgia Bulldogs are all set—no, not for Oglethorpe—but for the first scrimmage of the season tomorrow afternoon on old Sanford field.

Harry Mehre finished polishing his boys up this afternoon for the hardest session they have faced so far this season as he prepared them for two days of scrimmaging that will decide the 33 men who will compose the varsity squad this fall.

Mehre will work his men easy tomorrow afternoon, but on Saturday will send them through what they term a "real scrimmage."

BULLDOGS "PUT OUT."

Practice today was similar to yesterday's, but the men were forced to "put out" a little more today than they did Wednesday. For the past three days the Bulldogs have been practicing dummy punt formations, but this afternoon they got down to real work when Harry Mehre divided the squad into three teams and sent them through a half hour of real punt formations.

Spurgeon Chandler, Armin Waugh, Johnny Davidson and Marion Dickens were the booters this afternoon and they got off some beautiful punts, although "under fire." The teams took turns today, one being on defense at one time, the other trying to punt, while the third team was taking a breath of air. The work looked rugged at first but Mehre and Backfield Coach Frank Thomas started working on the boys and before the day was over the work began to look better. Bobby Rose, Georgia's signifier veteran tackle, broke through on no less than four occasions while playing on defense and sneared the opposing team's attempt at punting.

"WEE ROBBIE" BUSY.

There's the reason we had some success at snoring punts last fall," said Harry Mehre with a smile, as we watched "Wee Robbie" block his fourth punt of the day. The tackling dummy was again brought into use, with both the backs and the linemen getting exercise at blocking and tackling. Mehre promised his men that they would be through with the tackling dummy if they tore the new one up. They didn't quite succeed this afternoon.

Captain Joe Boland and Bennie "The Great" Rothstein, members of last year's strong team, were visitors in the Bulldog camp. Boland, a star center last fall, is studying medicine this fall, while Rothstein, an all-southern fullback, has just finished a

Cub Admirers Drive 'Hello Girls' to Panic

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—(AP)—The defeat by Brooklyn of the Chicago Cubs yesterday in the nerve-racking National league pennant race precipitated the Superior exchange of the Chicago telephone system into one of the worst tangles of its experience last night.

The reason was a notice appearing in the early editions of the Tribune, announcing that a telegram of encouragement was to be sent to Manager Joe McCarthy and members of the Cubs' team, and inviting supporters of the club to telephone if they desired their name signed.

A few moments after the paper had reached the street, the phone calls began pouring into the Tribune office. An hour later the Superior exchange was reported 15 minutes behind on incoming calls. Later an official of the company telephoned to inquire if there had been a great catastrophe.

"Every exchange in the city is swamped," he said. "What's the trouble?"

When it was explained to him, he said: "That's all right. Put my name down."

Many persons, unable to get telephone calls through, sent their names by telegraph, and some carried lists of names to the Tribune office personally.

The score being tied when he was in, Ralph Head, the third Vol pitcher, was charged with the loss. Fans in the grandstand directly behind the plate spent the afternoon razzing "Steamboat" Johnson, the league's leading umpire.

The Steamer has yet to be caught. The boys got particularly vociferous and the Steamer walked up close to the screen and said, coarsely, "Go home and wash your dirty neck."

The fans cheered this as the Steamer is a great favorite with them and maybe a lot of the boys had forgot about their necks anyhow. The Steamer gives valuable advice.

The two clubs will play again today, the starting time being 3 o'clock with Red Othman scheduled to make his final appearance of the year.

SULLIVAN RESTS.

Sully Sullivan, star sophomore quarterback who was injured in the practice session yesterday afternoon, was out in "civies" today. Sullivan is expected to be back in uniform within a week.

The three teams Mehre used today were, first team: Tassapoulas, center; Leathers and Patterson, guards; Rose and Lynn, tackles; Smith and Maffett, ends; Downes, quarterback; Mott and Chandler, halves, and Roberts, fullback.

Second team: McWhorter, center; Bennett and Halsehurst, guards; Hanrick and Davis, tackles; Kelley and Crenshaw, ends; Moran, quarterback; Davidson and Dickens, halves, and Steinhoff, fullback.

Third team: (The Maddox), center; Thorpe and Reynolds, guards; Thornton and Swartz, tackles; Collier and Maxwell, ends; Young, quarterback; Keyes and Waugh, halves, and Eberhardt, fullback.

BOBBY TO PLAY PARTNERS WITH MOORE SUNDAY

Black Brothers Sure To Furnish Spirited Opposition.

By Roy White.

Atlanta golf fans will have their last opportunity Sunday afternoon on the new East Lake course to see Bobby Jones in action before he departs Monday to compete in the National amateur tournament. Bobby, runner-up in the recent city tournament, will play Dave and Charlie Black, Jr., an exhibition match for the benefit of the $24 division homecoming fund.

It will be the only opportunity in several years that the public has had to see the triple golf champion in action on his home course, and the proceeds will go to a worthy cause. Tickets will be $1 each and have been placed on sale at Jacobs' stores, Trammell Scott & Co., Spaulding's soda fountain in the Candler and 101 Marietta buildings, and all the city and country clubs.

SUB-PAR ROUND.

Although the records are unofficial, Bobby has played a dozen or more rounds at East Lake recently, in sub-par figures and literally burned up the new course at Highlands, N. C., in the process.

The match will be no setup for the champion and Moore, for Dave Black is Georgia's amateur champion and Charlie Black has won the city amateur title on the Capital City course. Charlie was twice former state champion and has been runner-up several times. He accompanied Bobby to California last year to the national amateur tournament, but did not qualify.

NEVER FINISHED.

Bobby has played on the new East Lake course several times this summer but has never completed a full 18-hole round. Each time he has been in par figures for the partial round.

Par for the new course is 71, and no player has yet equaled the figure for 18 holes. Bobby Jones, in his last practice round before leaving for Philadelphia, should set up another course record for Atlantans to shoot at.

Par for the new course is 71, and no player has yet equaled the figure for 18 holes. Bobby Jones, in his last practice round before leaving for Philadelphia, should set up another course record for Atlantans to shoot at.

In a recent round on the new links with some visiting friends, Bobby stated that it is one of the most beautiful courses in the south and plenty tough. Its toughness is shown by the fact that no golfer has approached par figures.

MOORE PROMISING.

Berrier Moore is one of East Lake's most promising young golfers. He was eliminated in the quarter finals of the southern amateur in Greensboro, and Charlie Black's 10-foot putt for a birdie four on the 30th green revived his chance for the city title.

He was four down to Pete Barnes in the quarter-final round, yet won out on the 21st green with a birdie four. Dave and Charlie Black, Jr., of the Capital City Club, are two of the best golfers in the city. Both are experienced and are hard to beat in match play. Dave was eliminated by Moore in the semi-final round of the city tournament and Sunday's match will give him a chance to square matters. It will also afford Moore opportunity to get square with Charlie.

Atlanta Bowlers Form Association

Organization of the Atlanta Duck-pin Bowling Association was perfected Thursday night at a meeting of local bowlers at the Atlanta Bowling alley. John Bell was named president of the association.

Other officers are: Archie Johnston and O. J. Metcalf, vice presidents, and Albert Turner, secretary and treasurer.

The association will have charge of all leagues and all local tournaments. There have been 190 teams organized and play was started last week. Several other teams are being organized and will be formed into new leagues which will start operating about October 1.

Henderson One Up In Piedmont Series

DURHAM, N. C., Sept. 11.—(AP)—Moose Swaney, Henderson pitcher, won a battle of left-handers today, as he defeated the Durham team, here tonight and the Gamecocks went one up on the Bulls by taking the third game of the Piedmont league championship series, 3 to 2. The teams play here again tomorrow night.

Swaney and Cherry were hit freely, but they worked their way out of trouble when his means runs. Durham left 14 men stranded on the base lines.

CYCLISTS HOLD PRACTICE TODAY FOR TITLE RACE

Strong Field Is Assured for Lakewood Races Saturday.

Practice runs for the 100-mile southern championship motorcycle race scheduled for 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon at Lakewood park will be run today on the mile oval, it was announced Thursday afternoon by officials of the Southern Racing Association.

All motorcycle riders who expect to enter the Saturday races are invited to use the track up to 1 o'clock this afternoon, at which time it will be thrown open for bicycle practices.

BOYS COMPETE.

A one-mile bicycle sweepstakes race for youngsters up to 16 years of age has been added to the Saturday program. Every young bicycle rider in the city is eligible to enter the mile event, and two cash prizes will be given the first two finishers.

All bicycle riders, young and old alike, will be admitted free Saturday afternoon, provided they ride their bikes to the park. Women also will be admitted free.

With nine entries already received and several more expected tonight, the race looks as one of the most spectacular and interesting held in the south this year. It will be the first time since 1913 that such a race has been attempted, and more interest is being shown than ever before.

ENTRY LIST.

The entries include: Wild Bill Hamie, Moot Jones, Florida state champion; Bill Martin, Whitley Roberts, Clarence Pearce, Harley Taylor, Louie Morrow, Fred Chambers and Todd Haygood.

Jones was undefeated last year and has yet to taste the dust from other riders in the 1930 season. Roberts, Martin and Pearce won all events on the Labor day program, and are out to square matters with each other.

Hanie is one of the best known dare-devil riders in the city. He is a veteran on the tracks and was leading at 250 miles when forced to retire with motor trouble in a 24-hour race at Lakewood in 1921.

Reserve Lack Looms As Main Gator Worry

Replacing Vansickle, Crabtree, Cawthon and Goodbread Difficult Task.

By Charles E. Ward, Associated Press Staff Writer.

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Sept. 11.—(AP)—With a ten-game schedule calling for seven Southern conference battles and an inter-sectional tilt with the University of Chicago, lack of reserves looms as the greatest problem facing Coach Charles W. Bachman at the University of Florida this year.

The Alligators open the season with Southern here September 27 and then plunge into the thick of conference battles, interspersed with their jaunt to Chicago on October 18 and a battle with Furman University here the following week.

Southern conference foes include North Carolina State, Auburn, Georgia, Alabama, Clemson, Georgia Tech and Tennessee, in the order named. Bachman's first duty will be to find suitable replacements for Dale Vansickle, Florida's first all-American player, who held down one end; Clyde Crabtree, quarterback; Captain Rainey Cawthon, fullback, and Royce Goodbread, halfback, all of whom were lost through graduation.

A score of lettermen will be available while several outstanding freshmen graduate into varsity ranks. The immediate problem looms at the quarterback and fullback positions. Fourteen lettermen and 10 sophomores are seeking line posts with the possibilities that the forward wall will be well cared for.

With Captain Red Bethea in line for one halfback post, and Ed Sauls, "Stunk" Dorsett and Homer Seay, holdovers from last year's squad, as leaders for the other halfback position, only the quarterback and fullback positions remain as places likely to cause a problem.

As candidates to succeed Crabtree, Bachman has "Red" McEwan, who has served as reserve quarterback for two years, Brennan and White, while Sanderson, Brick and Rogers, from the 1929 freshman ranks, also are ready for signal calling duties.

Link Silsby, who alternated with Cawthon last year, seems the likely choice for fullback, although Broward McClellan, hold-over from last year's squad, and Joe Jenkins, hefty sophomore, will offer stern competition.

One of the highlights of the season will be the homecoming battle with Alabama here on November 8, when Florida's new stadium, at present seating 22,000 will be dedicated.

PLAYS POLISHED IN PREPARATION FOR TECH DRILL

Separate Drills Held for Line, Ends and Back-field Men.

By Herb Clark.

Scrimmage, the latest word from the haunts of the Yellow Jackets says is not for the present.

The word was a confirmation of the general appearance of the practice session held at the Rose Bowl Thursday afternoon, in which the Jackets, having progressed from the basic fundamental stage to that of taking bodily contact as their daily rite, settled back to the dreary monotony of learning how it's done.

Coach "Ellick" and his aides, starting on Labor Day and working by easy but definite stages, seemed to have brought their charges to the eve of the long-awaited sham battle in sessions previous to that of yesterday, but a conference evidently deemed that the time was not yet.

So, with The Man absent at an executive board meeting, "Wild Willie" Fincher took the boys back over the road again—and put them through a session which sent them to the showers with gold jerseys a tarnished color and khaki pants the dulled of drabs. The boys really went to work under Fincher. They were glad when Fincher gave them leave to retire from the field of action. The general consensus of opinion was that they might live, but that they didn't quite see either why or how.

MIKE DRIVES. Fincher gave Mike Chambers, trainer and ballet director, the office to see that the calisthenics were calculated to take off poundage. And Chambers went skylock several pounds better in theory and then completely outdid him by seeing that that flesh actually came off.

From that point until the final trailing from the gates the practice was a "honey," as the boys say when they wish to be right. A session on the tackling dummies.

WE GUARANTEE SATISFACTION OR YOUR MONEY BACK

By REX BEACH

The young man bowed grudgingly; he had a characteristic Chinese gesture: he traced his clasped hands. "Your friendship honors me and I shall cherish it as a precious thing. While, may I send you from China some gift that will serve as a symbol of my profound respect and as a reminder of my father's?"

"China? You're not going away again?"

"Oh, Sam?"

"It is a beautiful place. I wish to tie upon some happy hillside where his spirit would find delight in the beauty of nodding flowers, whispering willows, and the soft, warm breeze. There, the honorable and virtuous Lee Ying in his lacquered coffin made air tight against the malicious winds of fate, in grief and repentance. . . . He will be carried in state to his final resting place upon a mountain. A thousand hired mourners will follow him, to the strains of plaintive music. He will be buried with his initials, a pair of ducks, and a pair of cooked fowls and dried pork and with rolls of paper money. All things shall be done in accordance with our customs!"

"Customs?" cried the girl.

"Same dear, how queer you talk! You're not a Chinese. You're an American!"

"Oh, no!" Over the speaker's face flickered an expression that chilled his listener. "I hope to be one day, but there were forces too strong opposing it. I was a fool. A fool who thought he could break a system of things that has existed for thousands of years. The gods and this is one. I have discovered that there are voids between the races, which we cannot bridge. We must strain forward and reach out our hands but they can never touch and when we lean too far we tumble."

"But—you don't believe in all those Oriental gods and those pagan superstitions. You're a college man. We grew up together and I know you better than I know my own brother, Jim."

"I believe in nothing," he asserted roughly. "Every belief I ever had was destroyed. I believed in love and charity and brotherhood and all such pleasant nothings. Names! Words! Lies! . . . Hate and greed and bigotry are real enough but the others—? Bah! . . . My father was a noble and a benevolent man: he practised all the estimable Christian virtues and yet he was despised by you white people."

"That's not so. I loved him."

Again Sam bowed. "I speak a general truth. You are one among many. The greatest Man of your race was crucified for being too loving and too forgiving. 'I'm glad you're here, Gilson, but you're no longer useful to be.' Lee Ying has made me proud to be of his family. When I was a little boy in San Francisco I experienced nothing more than the kindness of my fair dealing from strangers. A Mandarin's button was placed in my cap and I was taught that three things only are necessary to live: a good wife, a little money. Before I could talk plainly I was made to lisp, 'In a village of ten houses there is sure to be found one loyalty and two thieves. In a village of a hundred there will be gentlemenly visitors. I came here to your greatest city and I found only treachery and contempt. Scorn, derision, injustice, and a few scraps of kindness in the streets. They followed me on to college; they followed me to Europe.' Sam uttered an unpleasant sound, and I saw his eyes flash. "Those 'loyalists' whom I trusted betrayed me; my pals turned out to be grafters. I have never been betrayed by a Chinese. I have never grafted from one. For example, an American in China with my father's body and I plan to remain there indefinitely. His affairs, now mine, will be left in the hands of the grafters. The graft will carry on the business. If I return and demand an accounting I will receive it and it will be precise. Not a cent of my money has been taken by those 'dirty Chinks'."

"You know what happened to me in Eastern. I was innocent of any wrongdoing, but what of that? I was a yellow man. I was told that my train left at 11. I was denied the privilege of pursuing the higher learning. In Europe it was about the
